STONE'S DEATH STIRS UP TALK ON SUCCESSOR

Wide Speculation Aroused on Truman Choice for New Chief Justice.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 23 — Chief Justice Harlan F. Stone's sudden death cut the disagreeing supreme court to a seven-man tribunal today and stirred wide speculation on President Truman's possible choice for the nation's highest judicial place.

The hard-working, 73-year-old Stone read two dissenting opinions to his colleagues in a prolonged court session yesterday, then faltered over the first of three majority opinions he had prepared. He paled and his first words trailed off.

The court session was halted abruptly. Doctors found Stone exhausted. They said he had indigestion. He was taken home. A few hours later his secretary announced his death from "a massive cerebral hemorrhage."

Mr. Truman, who learned of the chief justice's death aboard the Aircraft Carrier Franklin D. Roosevelt, termed it "a grevious loss to the country." The President left Washington Sunday to observe naval maneuvers off the Virginia coast.

The funeral of Chief Justice Stone will be held at 2 p. m. Thursday in the Washington Cathedral.

Burial will be made in a Washington cemetery, still to be selected.

Eben Ayres, assistant White House press secretary, said today that presidential aides anticipated Mr. Truman would return here for the funeral.

The Chief Executive has been watching naval maneuvers off the Virginia Capes.

The first wave of speculation touched off by Stone's death centered on the possibility Mr. Truman might designate a Republican to fill the court vacancy but elevate one of the seven Democrats now on the bench to chief justice.

Associate Justices William O. Douglas, Robert J. Jackson and Felix Frankfurter were mentioned most prominently and in that order. Other Democrats on the bench are Hugo Black, Stanley F. Reed, Frank Murphy and Wiley Rutledge.

Talk of Republican candidates for the tribunal usually started off the name of Secretary of War Robert P. Patterson.

Would Add Problem

Selection of the war secretary, however, would present Mr. Truman with the problem of finding a successor in the cabinet. Hence some senators said they thought their Republican colleagues Warren R. Austin of Vermont or Homer Ferguson of Michigan might enter the picture.

The last job Stone completed on the high bench yesterday—the reading of a dissenting opinion—was symbolic of some of the court work which won him greatest fame. A prolific dissenter in his 21 years on the bench, Stone had the perhaps unprecedented privilege of seeing two of his dissenting opinions later become the law of the land.

In one of these he opposed the majority's reasoning that school children could be forced to salute the flag. Later the court said saluting could not be required.

In the other triumph for Stone, the court eventually accepted his view that city ordinances imposing a tax on sale of religious literature were unconstitutional.

In two other historic dissents Stone objected sharply to majority opinions invalidating the Agricultural Adjustment act and a New York law establishing minimum wages for women.

Stone's support of President Roosevelt's early New Deal legislation in bitter legal controversies before the high tribunal gained for him the reputation of being a "liberal." Mr. Roosevelt, a Democrat, later elevated the New Hampshire Republican to chief justice. He took the presiding seat on Oct. 6, 1941.

Jackson Absent

During Stone's last term he had only an eight-man court. Jackson has been prosecuting Nazi leaders at Nuernberg and is not expected to return until the next term in October.

Stone's death now leaves to another Democratic President the selection of a court leader who perhaps can break the recent 4 to 4 impasse in various cases.

Stone's appointment by Roosevelt was the second time in American history that a President

WRECK INQUIRY SET FOR TODAY

1 Killed in Erie Derailment Here; Several War Prisoners Slightly Hurt.

One man was killed and several others slightly injured when an Erie railroad freight engine was derailed in an accident with an eastbound Erie passenger train at a switch about 500 yards west of the Kenton avenue crossing Monday at 12:47 p. m.

The dead man is Guy Robert Hoag, 28, of Huntington, Ind. He was fireman on the derailed engine. He was crushed under the engine as it turned over on its side. He was killed almost instantly, the coroner reported. His body was not recovered from under the overturned engine until two and one-half hours after the accident occurred, when a railroad crew cut the body out with acetylene torches. Coroner's verdict was accidental death from massive crushing.

The body was sent back to Huntington last night. Hoag was married.

Engineer Unhurt

The engineer of the freight engine, Charles Casper of Huntington, was uninjured. It is believed that had Hoag remained in the cab of the engine he would not have been injured; however, he attempted to climb out as it was turning over and was caught underneath.

Railroad officials declined to give any opinion as to the cause of the accident prior to an investigation set for this afternoon. The accident occurred when the freight

GROUND BROKEN AT DELAWARE DAM SITE

Ohio's First Postwar Flood Control Project Launched.

By The Associated Press

DELAWARE, O., April 23—The first postwar flood control project in Ohio gets going officially this afternoon with groundbreaking ceremonies on the $5,000,000 reservoir designed to protect the cities of Delaware and Columbus from a repetition of the disastrous 1913 flood on the Olentangy river.

The reservoir, to be built five miles north of here, is designed to create a 1,000-acre permanent pool, and in peak high water time to back up 8,700 acres of water in a lake 16 miles long, extending northward into Marion county. The flood plan will include 275 farm properties, but only 21 are needed immediately for the dam itself, and the government has been given immediate possession to these by federal court in Columbus.

Gov. Frank J. Lausche was scheduled to take a nickel-plated spade at 2 p. m. and turn the first official dirt to get the 18,000-foot dike and dam under way. Contractors have been busy for several weeks.

The Delaware project is one of a series of dams designed to control the waters of the Scioto and Sandusky valleys. Although the Scioto flows south and the Sandusky north, their upper reaches are separated only by a few miles north of Marion. The Olentangy flows into the Scioto at Columbus.

Today's program includes a parade from the Delaware city hall and a motorcade from the city limits to the dam site.

Congressman J. Harry McGregor of West Lafayette said he wished to inquire into methods used by army engineers in determining property values in the vicinity of the dam site.

He added that his office in Washington had received complaints about the appraisal [illegible]

GOV'T PROBES SHORTAGE OF SUITS FOR MEN

Given Top Priority as U. S. Takes Action To Spur Cotton Apparel.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 23—The men's suit shortage moved up for top attention today as the government counted hopefully on new emergency measures to help ease another clothing scarcity—in low-cost cotton apparel.

The Civilian Production Administration began analyzing reports from 80 manufacturers on why output of inexpensive suits fell nearly a million garments shy of the 3,500,000 goal set for the first three months of this year.

From this spot check the agency expects to learn in the next few days just what new steps may have to be taken to bring production up to schedule.

The survey is being made at the insistence of Maj. Gen. Graves B. Erskine, chief of the retaining and re-employment administration. Recently Erskine contended that many veterans have had to turn down jobs because they could not find proper clothing.

On Cotton Front

On the cotton clothing front, the government turned last night to a combination of price increases and restoration of wartime production controls in the latest of a series of actions to obtain more yarn and fabric for shirts, underwear, pajamas, dresses and work clothing.

The aim is a 50 per cent increase in output of low-cost garments.

OPA ordered reinstatement May 1 of a spindle "freeze" which applies to machines producing more than 20 per cent of the nation's cotton yarn. Under the order, which had been dropped last August, spindles diverted to output of less essential yarn must be turned back to important types produced at the end of 1945.

And to make it easier, OPA granted a five per cent "incentive" increase in price ceilings for cotton yarn needed for inexpensive garments.

This price hike matches one granted six weeks ago for essential cotton fabrics. The spindle order has a counterpart in a fabric loom freeze recently put back on the books. It also had been scuttled in the rush to get rid of controls when the war ended.

Issues New Order

OPA also invoked a new order which is designed, it said, to halt "serious diversion" of cotton yarn from essential clothing and from important industrial and agricultural uses.

This order earmarks from 30 to 85 per cent of certain types of yarn for priority requirements, including low-cost clothing. Another measure fixes minimum production levels which yarn spinners will be required to meet.

In announcing its new controls, CAP said they are necessary because of a 13 per cent decline in yarn output during the last year. It hopes to boost production from a rate of 195,000,000 pounds of yarn during the final three months of 1945 to 225,000,000 million pounds a quarter this year.

Retired Teacher Hurt in Fall at Galion

Special to The Star

GALION, April 23—Miss Grace Weston, 79, of 129½ Harding Highway east, retired Galion High school teacher, is in City hospital in critical condition as the result of a fall Monday night.

Miss Weston, who is suffering from cerebral concussion and possible skull fracture, was leaving the home of Miss Clara Manzer about 10 p. m. when she slipped and fell on the steps, striking her head on the cement sidewalk.

UNKNOWN GRAVE ROBBERS STEAL MUSSOLINI'S BODY

A Vital Decision for Marion

TWO WEEKS from today Marion voters will decide whether the city's public school system is to have a guarantee of adequate housing and facilities or whether it must continue to operate under its present handicap of buildings so overcrowded, run-down and poorly equipped that efficient maintenance of education and training for the community's young people is threatened with serious impairment.

Actually, the future of Marion as a whole rests upon the decision to be made at the polls May 7. This is an undeniable fact, for no city can progress in any respect if its provisions for public education are of a low standard. The absolute truth is that no city is better than its schools. Marion has had good schools and does have at this time, but for this all credit is due those in charge of their operation—the board of education, the superintendent, the principals and teachers and other employes. Certainly no credit can justifiably be given us, the people, under present conditions. We are not giving the school corps suitable or sufficient facilities and last fall by a narrow margin of votes refused to grant them such facilities. They have maintained efficient operations despite these handicaps, however, and for this are entitled to recognition for notable service.

But with these handicaps can they continue keeping up the high standards of education which a city such as Marion must provide for its young people if it is to move forward with other Ohio communities? The answer must be an emphatic "No." Under present conditions, school operations here can hardly do more than remain stationary, for there is no way open for expansion or substantial improvement, and eventually there will be no direction to go but backward and downward.

Marion must not come to a standstill and most certainly must never hit the downgrade. But if our schools do either of these, Marion will do likewise. For as schools go, so goes the community they serve.

"What sort of schools do you have?" is virtually certain to be the first question asked by prospective new residents of a city. The same information is called for by the management of industries and commercial concerns looking for locations. They turn their backs on cities that do not provide the best in education and recreation for families of their employes.

Marion must meet this requirement if it is to attract new residents and new industries or even to hold those already here. This we will do if we authorize the proposed school building and improvement program in our vote Tuesday, May 7.

Emergency Food Committee Appointed for Marion Drive

L. Otis Porter and E. P. Bachman To Be in Charge of Campaign for War Sufferers.

Mayor Harry L. Dowler announced today the organization of an Emergency Food Collection committee for Marion which will conduct a one-day campaign to obtain canned food and money donations for shipment to famine stricken nations overseas.

General chairman of the committee is L. Otis Porter, who said today the tentative date set for campaign was May 17. Assisting Mr. Porter will be E. Paul Bachman, who will have charge of the money collection.

In discussing the campaign, Chairman Porter said E. E. Holt, superintendent of Marion schools, and Rev. Father William J. Spickerman would assist in promoting the campaign in the city schools. School children will be asked to bring food canned in tins to their schools. Other persons who are not reached through the school campaign may deliver their tin canned goods to any fire house in the city, Mr. Porter said. There will be no house to house canvass to obtain donations.

After the tin canned goods have been collected they will be picked up by the committee and prepared for shipment overseas. Mr. Porter stressed that only foods canned in tins could be accepted, since glassware would break in shipment.

Persons wishing to make cash contributions may make their donations at any bank in the city, or they may mail checks to Mr. Bachman at the National City bank. Checks should be made out to the Emergency Food Collection committee.

Organization of the committee follows receipt of a telegram from Henry A. Wallace, national chairman of emergency food collection, in which he stressed the need for food products overseas. The program will be conducted in cooperation with the President's famine emergency committee.

Suspect Arrested In Abduction of Girl

By The Associated Press

YOUNGSTOWN, O., April 23—Chief of Detectives William A. Reed said kidnaping and armed robbery charges probably would be filed today against a 31-year-old suspect in the $130 holdup of Ivan Smith's drug store and the abduction of his daughter, Patricia, 20, on April 5.

Reed reported the suspect signed statements admitting the robbery and abduction following his arrest at Pittsburgh last midnight by Pittsburgh police.

LEADER POINTS TO HUGE COST OF OHIO BONUS

Tax Head Says Plan Would Boost Property Levies 27 Per Cent.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., April 23 — A half-billion dollar bonus to Ohio's World War II veterans would cause either an increase of 27 per cent in property taxes or take the total return from levies on liquid fuel, cigarets, and admissions, plus $5,000,000 from the sales tax annually, Tax Commissioner C. Emory Glander estimated today.

Glander made the estimate in an analysis which he described as "neither an argument for nor an argument against" a veterans' state bonus but "designed to provide factual information * * * useful in considering all phases of the bonus question."

"Because we are deeply grateful for the matchless efforts and sacrifices of the men and women who served * * *," he wrote in the foreward, "there is danger that we treat this question on an emotional basis entirely and neglect practical considerations."

Basis of Figures

The study worked arbitrarily from the $500,000,000 figure because it was the largest suggested so far. It assumed that $450,000,000 would go to the veterans, with the remainder going to interest charges and administrative costs.

Assuming the $450,000,000 would be raised by ten-year serial two per cent bonds, an amendment to the state constitution would be needed to authorize such an issue, since the state may not contract a debt of more than $750,000 without a vote of the people, the study said. Such an amendment specifically authorized a $25,000,000 bonus bond issue after World War I.

To raise the $50,000,000 annually in administrative and interest costs the study said, the state legislature either could resort to raising the tangible, or real estate, tax rate, or it could earmark existing tax revenues exclusively for the job.

Effect on Taxes

"If the tangible property duplicate * * * in 1945 remained unchanged at $10,942,885,065, it would mean an additional rate of 4.98 mills during the first year and 4.19 during the tenth year," the study said. "The average state rate compiled from the levy on the 1944 duplicate * * * was 18.58 mills.

"The veterans' bonus would require an average increase of nearly 27 per cent at the beginning, and of 22.5 per cent at the end of the year."

Noting that local governments already were receiving subsidies from sales tax revenues and that post-war projects probably would eat heavily into the $150,000,000 state surplus, the study commented of other tax sources:

"If all the revenue from the taxes on liquid fuel, cigarets and selective sales plus some five million on the average from retail sale were pledged to the payment of the bonus, it might be met without additional taxes. This assumes that the liquid fuel tax will yield 15 millions, the cigaret tax 12 million, and selective sales, including admissions, about 20 million.

"These estimates do not appear to be unreasonable in view of yields in pre-war years. If however, economic conditions should

CRAZED SAILOR KILLS 9 MATES

Youth Goes Berserk on LST in China Area; Wounds Self After Orgy.

By The Associated Press

SHANGHAI, April 23 — A 19-year-old seaman killed nine shipmates and wounded a tenth in a berserk blaze of gunfire aboard an LST in the Yangtze river today, then stabbed himself.

The Navy announced that the sailor was L. B. Smith, seaman second class of Asheville, N. C.

The orgy of shooting and stabbings ended, the Navy said, when Smith was disarmed by an unnamed sailor, himself mortally wounded and was floored by a metal bench wielded by Kenneth M. Stalnecker, 18, seaman second class, of Reading, Pa.

Brought to the Navy hospital ship Repose in Shanghai harbor, Smith was given a 50-50 chance to survive three deep gashes in the upper abdomen inflicted with his own knife.

Navy Tells Story

This was the way the tragedy was reconstructed by the Navy as it prepared to launch a court of inquiry:

Smith, described as a quiet, introspective youth who left the United States only Feb. 21, had stood a 10 p. m. to midnight watch as gangway messenger.

At midnight it was believed he went aft to the fantail, where he frequently sat alone.

Later he obtained a carbine from the cabin of the gunnery officer, who was away on watch. He also had a pistol which had been concealed among his own effects.

At about 2 a. m. he entered the sleeping compartment of the LST, where 30 shipmates were asleep. Switching on the lights and without a word, he opened fire. Seven seamen were killed outright and two others died later of their wounds.

Fires 30 Shots

Smith pumped 30 bullets into the close quarters from his carbine and pistol. When his ammunition was exhausted he lunged upon his victims with a knife.

ITALY PROBES REMOVAL FROM POTTER'S FIELD

Disappearance of Executed Duce's Corpse Found by Workmen.

By The Associated Press

MILAN, April 23—Milan municipal authorities reported today that the body of Benito Mussolini was removed during the night from Maggiore cemetery here by "unknown" persons.

(A dispatch to Il Journal in Rome said part of Mussolini's leg encased in a boot remained in the coffin which was left in the cemetery. Morgue officials said, however, that Mussolini's body had been completely stripped before it was buried.)

An inquiry to ascertain the responsibility was underway. The discovery was made by workers who were in the cemetery to exhume other bodies.

Mussolini was buried in a pauper's grave in the cemetery soon after his execution by partisans near the Swiss border in April 1945.

The bodies of Claretta Petacci, his mistress, and five henchmen who were executed at the same time were buried near his grave.

Mussolini was captured on the shores of Lake Como attempting to escape into Switzerland. After a summary trial, he and the others were shot.

The bodies were brought to Milan and hung up for exhibition in the public square. Thousands flocked to see the corpse of the man who had led Italy into war, and one woman fired several shots into his body, crying that each bullet represented her vengeance for her sons lost in the war.

Germans Buried There

The Maggiore cemetery is called "the German camp" by Milanese because Germans who died before the liberation of Italy are buried there.

The grave was unmarked. Two Associated Press photographers and a correspondent went to the cemetery yesterday to get pictures of Mussolini's grave and found everything in order.

A cemetery watchman pointed to what he supposed was Mussolini's grave, saying that the body of Achille Starace, former secretary of the Fascist party, was near by.

But only three or four persons actually knew the true place where Mussolini was buried. Giovanni Cavazza, a lawyer and high municipal official, two days ago told the complete story of the burial.

Late in the afternoon of April 30, 1945, a military truck brought three coffins to the cemetery. They contained the bodies of Mussolini, Claretta Petacci, Mussolini's mistress, and Starace. The coffins were unmarked, and only a commune official knew in which coffin was the body of Mussolini.

Buried Near Germans

After a military priest had given the benediction, they were buried near the German graves. Attending the ceremony were an official of the Red Cross and the military personnel on the truck. Claretta was not buried near her lover because, Cavazza said, he gave orders "not to place two adulterers, sinners against God's law, together."

The ground over Mussolini's grave was completely bare, as was the ground over 21 other graves, [illegible]

Footloose Circus Elephant Raises Havoc in Marion

By ARTHUR B. MYERS

Burma, a 35-year-old lady elephant, became weary of her routine at the Mills Brothers' Circus at the Drake lot on East Fairground street, and took off cross country for a good look at Marion today about 11 a. m.

It took the combined efforts of her keeper, a city patrolman, circus employes, and several Marion amateur elephant chasers to catch her and get her back to the circus lot for her afternoon stint at the matinee show.

Burma followed an unorthodox but interesting course in her sightseeing tour of the north end of town. Streets were used when it suited her fancy, but she had no prejudice against strawberry patches and gardens as a route of travel and she was no elephant to respect fences.

[illegible]

Gardens, fences, and a couple of woodsheds in the north end were altered during her trip, before she was finally captured by her trainer, Roy Howzer, and loaded into a truck at Fairground and Oak streets, about a mile from her starting point. The chase took about one hour.

She started from the Drake lot and, crossing East Fairground street, went through backyards until she reached Wallace street. She headed for the center of town down Wallace street but was shooed back north. She went back up Wallace, crossed East Fairground and then turned west across North State and North Main.

Lumbering through the Green Owl Motor Court at 741 North Main street, she took a 48-foot farm fence with two strands of barbed wire along with her and continued through Lincoln Park. A. W. McColley, a retired city policeman and owner of the motor court, said she had plenty of open country to walk through, but the grass on the other side of his fence must have looked greener to her.

[illegible]

Soon afterward in Lincoln Park her trainer caught her and started to lead her back to the circus grounds. She broke away from him on East Fairground street between North State and Park streets, however, and headed west. She followed the garden and fence route along East Fairgrounds street until she reached Oak street, where a circus truck, brought at the suggestion of City Patrolman C. E. Hardin, was used to truck her back to the grounds.

[illegible]

As far as is known, there were no casualties from the elephant's rampage, although there was a report that one woman snatched her baby out of the animal's path just in time as the monster crashed through the yard.

BIG 3 RESUME FIGHT IN UN

Russia Virtually Doomed to Defeat in Iran Case; Franco Delay Seen.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, April 23—The Big Three in the United Nations security council resume today their month-long jousting over an apparently beaten Russian bid to remove the council's attention from Iran.

After a long Easter holiday, the council meets at 3 p. m. to review and probably reject Russia's motion for immediate dismissal of the Iranian case.

Debate on the issue seems certain to delay until tomorrow further discussion of Franco Spain.

The Spanish question was expected to find the council in general agreement on at least one point—that a full investigation should be made before a vote is taken on Poland's demand for a collective diplomatic break with the regime of Generalissimo Francisco Franco.

On the Iranian issue Soviet Delegate Andrei A. Gromyko had the announced support of only Poland and France.

Against them was an eight-nation majority, headed by the United States and Great Britain, which favors retaining jurisdiction over the Iranian case until May 6, by which time Russia has promised a complete evacuation of Red Army troops from Iran.

The council has an 8-to-3 opinion from its committee of experts on procedure that it can legally retain the Iranian case even though Iran has formally withdrawn her complaint against Russia.

Poland's demand for an immediate rupture of diplomatic relations with Franco Spain brought a sharp clash last week between Britain and Russia, which supported the Polish proposal.

COAL FAMINE MAY CLOSE AUTO PLANTS

By The Associated Press

DETROIT, April 23 — The nation's automobile industry, struggling for months to get into volume production, will be forced to close down completely within the next three weeks unless the coal strike is settled in the interim, Ernest T. Weir, chairman of the National Steel Corp., says.

Weir told a news conference last night that steel production currently is at 50 per cent of capacity and will continue to decline as the coal strike proceeds. He predicted it will be at least two weeks after the strike is settled before the steel mills can get back to normal production.

Only 8,000,000 tons of steel were produced in the first quarter of this year, Weir said, when volume should have been closer to 18,000,000. He added that steel now is being allocated to the automobile manufacturers on a percentage basis of their average orders the four years preceding the war.

WASHINGTON, April 23 — K. C. Adams, editor of the United Mine Workers Journal, said today striking soft coal miners lack authority to produce coal for UNRRA.

F. H. LaGuardia, director general of the relief agency, appealed to miners and operators yesterday for 500,000 tons of coal a month for export.

Ezra Van Horn, chairman of the national bituminous coal conference, withheld comment.

"The miners don't own the mines. They possess no authority legally, financially or otherwise to order resumption of production," Adams said in a statement.

Railroaders To Debate Strike

Meet Tomorrow To Consider 16-Cent Boost Urged by Fact-Finders.

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, April 23—Railroad trainmen and engineers will decide in a closed meeting beginning tomorrow whether the nation's rail transportation system will continue in operation after May 18 or be tied up by a strike.

Some 175 general chairmen of the Brotherhoods of Railroad Trainmen and Locomotive Engineers — the key men in both organizations—will begin consideration of a fact-finding board's recommendations for a 16-cent hourly wage boost and certain changes in working rules.

President A. F. Whitney of the Trainmen and Alvanley Johnson, grand chief engineer of the Locomotive Engineers, made no comment in advance of the meeting.

Didn't Get Desires

Railroad labor observers pointed out that the fact-finding panel, appointed by President Truman after the two brotherhoods voted to strike, recommended "very little that the brotherhood asked for."

Trainmen and engineers sought a $2.50 daily wage increase and 45 working rules changes.

Observers noted that the brotherhood's principal demands for working rule changes were not among the recommended, and listed part of these as:

A 10-cent hourly differential in pay for night work.

Sick leave, based on length of service.

Time and one-half overtime pay for Saturday and Sunday work.

Limitation on train lengths to 70 cars and 3,000 feet for freight trains and 14 passenger cars and 1,400 feet for passenger trains.

Nothing for Stewards

In addition, the board granted no benefits to dining car stewards, and this was regarded as one of the issues of greatest contention, one observer said.

At tomorrow's meeting, wage committees will make their reports to the general chairmen. Thereafter, the brotherhoods may announce their acceptance or rejection of the recommendations, or withhold their decision until after their meeting with the carriers scheduled for next Monday in Chicago.

Board findings usually have been accepted, but this is not mandatory under the Railway Labor act. The act does delay a strike until 30 days after the board reports, or until May 18. If all other machinery failed, the President could seize the railroads for government operation to prevent suspension of service.

Nationwide Strike of Express Agency Employes Forecast

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, April 23—A nationwide walkout of 65,000 employes of the Railway Express Agency, Inc., was forecast today by George M. Harrison, grand president of the AFL Brotherhood of Railway and Steamship Clerks.

Harrison said the trend of a strike vote showed that "unless some steps be taken immediately, express services will be paralyzed" one minute after midnight Thursday, the time set for the walkout in a resolution on which all local unions began balloting last Friday.

"The employes are in no mood to brook any further delay on settling their demands for wage increases," Harrison added.

The strike vote was ordered, the union president said, after the Express Agency refused to grant the 16 cents an hour wage increase recently awarded railroad workers by the national mediation board.

'We have had no definite advice of a strike," Albert M. Hartung, vice president of the Express Agency in charge of public relations, said in New York. "We have offered 10 cents an hour, which is in accord with the pattern for the express industry."

The pattern was set, he said, by an award Oct. 31, 1945, made by an emergency board appointed by President Truman. He asserted the board's award called for a 10-cent hourly increase for the company's vehicle employes by the International Brotherhood of Teamsters.

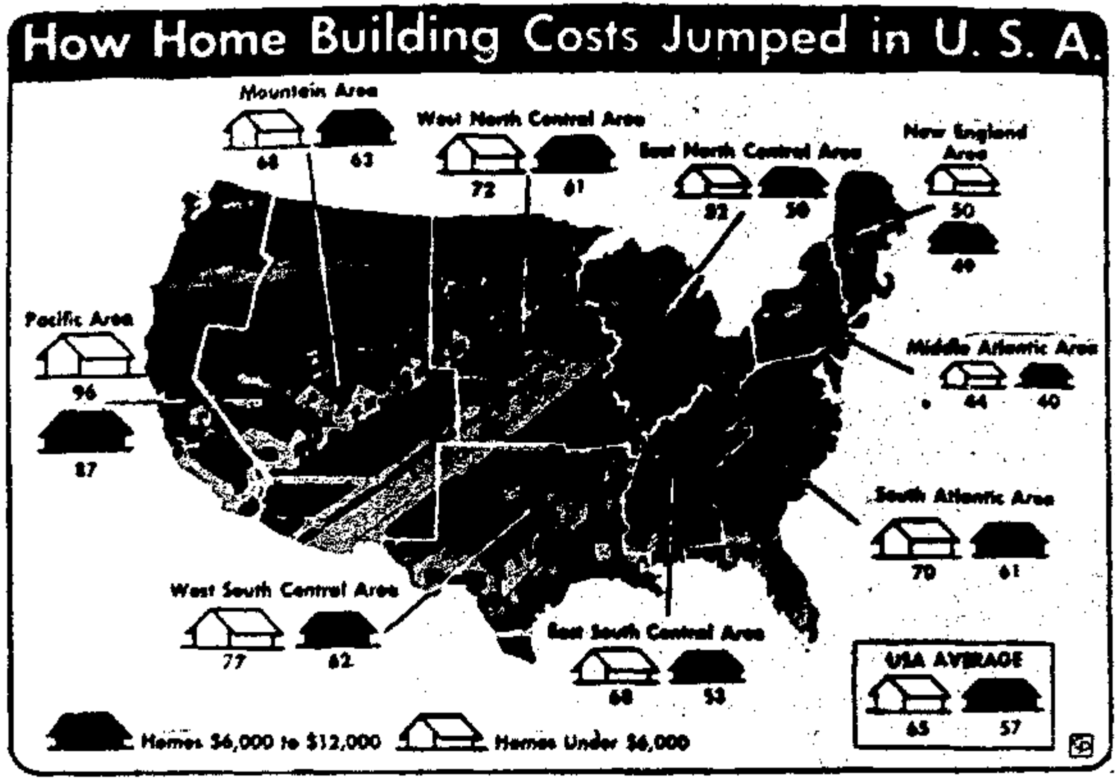
How Home Building Costs Jumped in U. S. A.



If you're thinking of buying a low or medium-priced house, this chart will give you an idea of how prices rose from the Spring of 1940 to February, 1946. The figures beneath the houses show the percentage increases in different areas of the nation. Lowest rise was in the Middle Atlantic area; the highest, in the Pacific area. The figures are from the April report of the National Housing Agency. (International).

ILLNESS IS FATAL TO ARLIS D. MASON

Dies at W. Columbia Street Home; Funeral Thursday.

Arlis D. Mason, 62, of 465 West Columbia street died at 9:45 p. m. Monday at his home, following an illness of three and a half years.

He was born Nov. 9, 1883 in Meeker to Joseph O. Mason and Laura Davis Mason, the father a native of Meeker and the mother of West Virginia. Dec. 31, 1912 in Green Camp he married Macie Spaulding, who survives. He was employed as a salesman and had resided in Marion 40 years, prior to that in Meeker.

Surviving with his widow is one daughter, Mrs. Ruthella Brown of Marion, one brother, Ernest D. Mason of East Liverpool, and one sister, Mrs. Donna Mae Davis of Hornell, N. Y.

Funeral services will be conducted Thursday at 1 p. m. in the Boyd and Uncapher funeral home on West Columbia street by Rev. M. E. Hollensen, pastor of Emanuel Lutheran church. Burial will be in Pleasant cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home after 8 p. m. tonight.

OHIO LOSES SOCIAL SECURITY FUND CASE

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., April 23—U. S. District Judge Mel Underwood ruled yesterday that the U.S. social security board respected states rights when it withheld $7,200 in federal funds from Ohio in 1943 in a Hatch act case involving Harry J. Patterson, former manager of the Cincinnati office of the bureau of unemployment compensation.

The state had appealed the action of the board, which was based on grounds that Patterson, discharged Jan. 1942, for alleged political activity, was reemployed Feb. 11, 1942 or within 18 months as automobile and sugar coordinator by the state council of civilian defense.

Patterson was accused of soliciting funds and distributing buttons in the 1940 campaign of John W. Bricker for governor.

In denying the appeal, Judge Underwood held that the federal money was offered only as an inducement not to rehire.

"Every loan or grant, when conditioned upon conduct, is in some measure a temptation.," Judge Underwood wrote, "but motive or temptation is not equivalent to coercion."

Ohio has contended that the provision of the Hatch act denying employment by any state or local government executive agency within 18 months of dismissal for alleged political activity was an invasion of the states rights amendment of the Constitution. But Judge Underwood wrote:

"Without the provision as to immediate reemployment by the state, the Hatch act would mean little. Ordinary logic must lead to the conclusion that the act, as applied to the instant case, will have far less effect on the quasi-sovereign independence of the state than the unrestricted use of federal office within the state in the promotion of pernicious political activities."

Detroit May Face Express "Embargo"

By The Associated Press

DETROIT, April 23—An embargo on all perishable express shipments into Detroit was considered today as a walkout of railway express workers here threatened to spread across the nation.

Some 1,500 Railway Express agency employes remained away from their jobs for the second day, company officials reported, to attend a "membership meeting" called to discuss a wage dispute.

BLACK MARKET MAY BEAT U. S. TO CORN

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, April 23 — The United States government and the black market, grain trade analysts said today, are locked in a battle to obtain 50,000,000 bushels of corn—and it is highly problematical which will win.

That is the interpretation grain analysts place upon one phase of the government's program to procure grain for famine areas abroad. The government has offered to buy corn at a bonus of 30 cents a bushel over ceiling prices until 50,000,000 bushels have been purchased.

Will the government get the corn?

Most grain experts believe that some corn will be offered to federal buyers, but others feel that the bonus does not lift prices high enough to meet quotations in any well-established black market.

E. A. Boerner, analyst for Harris, Upham and Co., brokers, said the bonus will bring corn prices "just about up to the level that has been prevailing in the black market."

But black market purchases, Boerner added, "often carry with them certain other hard-to-get items, ranging from beer to automobiles, which are much sought after in some quarters and apparently regarded as more desirable than money."

BARKLEY PUTS ATOM BILL ON "MUST" LIST

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 23—Democratic Leader Barkley (Ky) put atomic control legislation on the "must" list today but stood his ground against other measures that might delay a senate showdown on the $3,750,000,000 British loan.

Senator McMahon (D-Conn) told newsmen Barkley had refused a request to lay aside the loan bill temporarily, but had given assurance that the senate will act on the domestic control measure before congress quits, probably early in July.

Senator Wherry of Nebraska, the Republican whip, asked Barkley whether there would be room on the schedule for action on strike control legislation similar to the house-approved Case bill, but he got the polite reply that Barkley "hoped" the senate could give it consideration.

Most legislators think the chances of the bill's passage are remote, unless the coal strike goes unsettled for a long time and a new wave of walkouts develops.

Proponents prodded the senate military committee in an effort to set up a federal aid airport pro-measure out before the senate. But administration lieutenants seemed to be in no hurry to take it up.

By agreement, the senate took time out from discussion of the British loan bill today for an argument over the terms of legislation to set up a federal air airport program.

With that out of the way, Barkley said he hopes to get a vote on the proposal by Senator Capehart (R-Ind) to cut the amount of the British loan from $3,750,000,000 to $1,500,000,000.

ods. The congressman did not give details of the complaints.

"I want to know just how the engineers are arriving at property settlement figures," McGregor asserted. "I believe such an investigation is important at this time, not only with respect to the Oletangy project, but in case the government insists on carrying out the Dillon dam proposal."

Col. C. C. Fletcher, real estate officer for the Ohio river division engineer's office, has reported that settlements have been made by mutual agreement with property owners.

Col. Beverly C. Dunn, Ohio river division engineer, said Col. Fletcher would tour the dam area with Congressman McGregor interviewing property owners whom the congressman said had complained about appraisal methods.

SOLOMON R. PENCE CLAIMED BY DEATH

Funeral of E. Center St. Resident Set for Thursday.

Solomon R. Pence, 76, of 464 East Center street died at 9:20 p. m. Monday in a Columbus hospital. He had been ill eight years.

Feb. 19, 1870, he was born in Van Wert, O., to Samuel Pence and Caroline Fowler Pence, both natives of Van Wert. He was married Dec. 18, 1892 in Van Wert to Addie E. Binkley, who survives. He attended the Methodist church at Delphos, O., was a member of the Eagles Lodge of Marion and was a stationary engineer and assembler by trade. He had lived in Marion 42 years, and prior to that time in Delphos.

Surviving with the widow are two daughters, Mrs. Newell James of 458 East Center street, Mrs. Cecil Schneider of 125 North Seffner avenue, one son, Guy R. Pence of 286 Lincoln avenue, five grandchildren, and four great grandchildren.

Funeral services will be conducted Thursday at 2 p. m. in the Schaffner-Denzer funeral home by Rev. Howard L. Olewiler, pastor of the First Presbyterian church. Burial will be in Forest Glen Memorial Park. Friends may call at the funeral home after 7:30 p. m. tonight.

Wallace Again Calls for Party Discipline

By The Associated Press

SAN FRANCISCO, April 23—Secretary of Commerce Henry A. Wallace reiterated his proposals for Democratic party discipline and advocated easier means for forcing bills to the house and senate floors in a speech here last night.

The idea of party responsibility, Wallace said, is so non-controversial "that even Republicans have subscribed to it." He attributed to former presidents Hoover and Coolidge statements favoring such responsibility.

Wallace's proposals last month that the Democratic party should discipline its members in congress for support of the party's legislative program caused a furore among elements of congress, but the secretary stuck by his guns for party discipline last night.

engine, which had just finished its run from Huntington and was going to the round house light, met an eastbound passenger train coming through on the main line filled with German prisoners of war. The engines, going in the same direction, met at a switch. The engine of the passenger train was not seriously damaged, railroad officials said. It had, however, finished its run at Marion and another engine and crew took over. The train was delayed about an hour.

Several Prisoners Slightly Hurt

Several of the German prisoners were bruised and shaken up, officials said. None were injured enough to be taken off the train, however, and their doctor gave them treatment on the train.

F. E. Shockome of Huntington, a fireman on the passenger locomotive, was treated for minor chest injuries.

become bad it is probable that new tax sources would have to be found or the rates on old taxes materially increased."

In the detailed discussion of the effect on property taxes, the study warned veterans to consider whether the probable increases would over-balance their bonus payments, which it said might average $350 with no one receiving more than $500.

Bonus To Be Added to Call for Session

By The Associated Press

GALLIPOLIS, O., April 23—A legislative commission will recommend next week that a $400,000,000 Ohio veterans' bonus be included in a call for a special session of the general assembly.

The estimate, Chairman Craig D. Slagle of the state veterans program commission said yesterday, will be given to Gov. Frank J. Lausche along with two other proposals for legislative consideration.

The commission, he said also is considering new special apprenticeship training legislation and a state veterans organization.

STONE

of one political party had elevated to the nation's highest judicial post an associate justice who adhered to another political party.

President William Howard Taft, a Republican, had done it in 1910 when he nominated Justice Edward Douglas White, a Democrat, to be Chief Justice.

Stone succeeded Charles Evans Hughes, who retired at the age of 79 because of "considerations of health and age."

No Feeling of Elation

In a characteristic statement, he had this to say when informed of the nomination

"I don't know whether one should feel gratification at assuming such large responsibilities

It is the kind of recognition any man would appreciate The responsibility is so great that it doesn't create any sense of elation"

The jurist knew what tremendous responsibilities the position of chief justice entailed. Although work had been to him almost a religion, he realized he was taking on a heavier burden as presiding officer and directing head of the high tribunal

His belief that law was "a human institution for human needs" impelled him to attempt to decide cases in the light of practical economic and social experience This required that he delve exhaustively into the ramified background of litigation

To do this he called without stint upon enormous physical resources built up in his youth by work on a New Hampshire farm and by playing center rush for the Amherst college football team

In later years he became a member of President Herbert Hoover's "medicine ball cabinet" — a group of intimate friends who met at the White House frequently to keep in physical condition by tossing a medicine ball

He also obtained physical workout during the summer by rowing a boat at his island home in Maine Fishing was another thing that contributed to his relaxation

Judicial Appearance

Sitting on the bench in his black robe, he presented an imposing appearance He truly was judicial looking

Inclined to be stout, he was above average height His face was round and an unruly lock of hair frequently fell over his right eye His brow at times became corrugated as he puzzled over complicated points of law presented by attorneys.

Customarily he was genial in his relations with counsel arguing before the tribunal But he sometimes employed stern methods with lawyers who evaded questions or wandered persistently from the issues of the litigation.

His appointment as associate justice in 1925 by President Calvin Coolidge, who attended Amherst College at the same time, was denounced by some "liberals" on the ground that Stone had been a "Wall Street lawyer"—a member of a firm headed by a son-in-law of the elder J. P. Morgan.

It was not long, however, before those famous words "Justices Holmes, Brandeis and Stone dissent" resounded frequently in the Supreme Court to astound Stones' former critics. These three noted "liberals" thus registered opposition to majority opinions with which they could not agree.

After gaining a reputation as a dissenter, Stone usually found himself on the majority side in important cases beginning with the 1936-37 term It was at this time that the trend of Supreme Court decisions shifted from anti-Roosevelt administration to pro-administration.

Before his supreme court service, he had spent only eleven months in public office—as attorney general in the Coolidge administration. He was picked by Coolidge to reorganize the justice department following the turbulent tenure of Harry M. Daugherty during the Warren G Harding administration

Previously he had been dean of the Columbia University Law School and had practiced his profession in New York City.

Born On A Farm

He was born October 11, 1872, on a farm near Chesterfield, New Hampshire, the son of Frederic Lawson and Ann Butler Stone.

He obtained a B.S degree at Amherst in 1894, taught school two years, returned for an M.A. degree at Amherst in 1897, took an LL.B degree from Columbia law school in 1898 and was admitted to the New York bar in the same year

He returned to Chesterfield on September 7, 1899, and married Miss Agnes Harvey He said once that he had visited her the first time when she was one day old.

Two sons were born to them, Marshall and Lauson Marshall became Professor of Mathematics at Harvard University. Lauson practiced law in New York.

Crime Wave Ended for Boy Fugitives

By the Associated Press

CLEVELAND, April 23—Two escapees from the Boys Industrial School at Lancaster who, FBI agents said, left a trail of theft and crime were held under $1,000 bond each today until the federal government decides what proceedings to take against them

FBI agents said the youths escaped April 1 They broke into a farmhouse, then stole an automobile and drove it into West Virginia, where they stole another and drove it to Duffy, O, said the agents

The FBI gave this account of what happened later

Stealing a third automobile, at Woodsfield O, they robbed a filling station, went to Pittsburgh and committed several robberies and a purse-snatching, then proceeded to Cleveland to sell their loot. Then they went to Canton, O., and on the return trip looted mailboxes at Hudson and Twinsburg

They were arrested at Bedford while hitch-hiking They hailed a police car and the police turned them over to the FBI.

"Second Fiddle" Max Lanier of Cards Puts Reds Back in Losing Stride

Long-Neglected Southpaw Turning Into St. Louis Ace

By JACK HAND

Associated Press Sports Writer

Max Lanier, a perennial runnerup, is fast becoming the ace of the St. Louis Cardinals' all-star pitching staff after years of playing second fiddle to such big names as Mort Cooper, Lon Warneke and Curt Davis.

The chunky left hander from Denton, N. C., back from a tour of Army duty, has won his first two starts in most impressive fashion to set the pace for the high-flying Red Birds' five game winning streak.

When Lanier first came to the big show in 1938, Davis was one of the fellows who hogged the headlines. The Warneke regime covered 1940 and 1941 when Ernie White first rocketed into the picture. Then came Cooper who reigned from 1942 until he was sold to Boston last spring.

Lanier might have made the No. 1 spot last year but arm trouble bothered him in the early spring and in May he went into the Army.

Got Early Start

Although he was a holdout this spring, Lanier reported to the St. Petersburg camp bright and early and has pitched himself into excellent condition. The lefthander's first effort was a shutout over Pittsburgh on the second day of the season and yesterday he turned back Cincinnati, 4-1, with six hits. Johnny Vander Meer was the loser.

The Cincinnati Reds today made the fifth attempt of the season to win a ball game in their home park.

Nate Andrews, who lost a heartbreaker in his 1946 debut last week, was down to pitch to the St. Louis Cardinals, who nominated Ted Wilks for mound duty. Andrews turned in a four-hit performance against the Chicago Cubs but a three-run error by Eddie Lukon cost him a 4-2 decision.

The Reds got their first and only taste of victory Sunday by taking a double bill at Pittsburgh.

The Reds got their run in the eigth.

Vander Meer didn't waste any time getting into trouble. He walked Lou Klein, the first Card to face him. Then, in quick order, Stan Musial, Enos Slaughter, Buster Adams and Martin Marion rapped him for singles and the Cards had three runs.

Brooks Keep Pace

Despite Lanier's chucking and the Cards' fifth straight triumph, they were unable to shake off the persistent Brooklyn Dodgers who likewise ran their win streak to five by shading Boston, 5-4, in 10 innings.

The Dodgers had to call on some of their veteran hired hands to keep them in a first place tie with St. Louis. Pete Reiser's second double of the day drove in the two tying runs in the ninth and Billy Herman belted a single to break it up in the first overtime. Hugh Casey, a refugee from the 1941 pennant club, picked up the victory on relief at the expense of Don Hendrickson.

The New York Giants resumed relations with the Phillies and got back on the winning side, 7-6, coming from behind to tie starter Tommy Hughes and blasting Fireman Hugh Mulcahy for the winning margin. Babe Young and Johnny Mize had perfect days at the plate but Manager Mel Ott had to call in Mike Budnick to save a second straight victory for pitcher Bob Joyce when the Phils came within one of a tie in the ninth.

Detroit found reason to rejoice in the excellent debut of Paul (Dizzy) Trout who blanked Chicago's White Sox, 4-0, with six blows. The Dizzy One had been troubled with an aching back last summer but showed no traces of any ailment in handcuffing the Pale Hose.

Yanks Squeeze Through

Floyd Bevens made his first start a wining one in hurling the New York Yankees to a 2-1 "squeaker" over Philadelphia's Luther Knerr. Joe DiMaggio tied the game with a triple in the sixth and scored the winning run on Charley Keller's single a few moments later.

Shortstop Eddie Pellagrini, who got his chance to play when Johnny Pesky was hit by a pitched ball in an early inning, won the game for Boston over Washington, 5-4, with a seventh inning homer. Bobby Doerr and Rudy York also hit for the circuit off Sid Hudson to make it easier for Lefty Mickey Harris to notch his second straight triumph.

Although Chicago and Pittsburgh in the National and Cleveland and St. Louis in the American were not scheduled the total attendance for the first complete week of play soared to 1,008,422 with the help of amazing Monday turnouts of 24,902 at Brooklyn and 23,407 at the Yankee Stadium.

Yesterday's Stars

By The Associated Press

Babe Young, Giants—Drove in three runs and scored two more as New York trimmed Phillies, 7-6.

Billy Herman, Dodgers—Singled home Pee Wee Reese with winning run in tenth inning of 5-4 shade of Boston Braves.

Max Lanier, Cardinals—Handcuffed Cincinnati with six hits for fifth straight St. Louis decision, 4-1.

Joe DiMaggio, Yankees—Tripled home tying score and scored winning tally as New York scored two in sixth for 2-1 nod over Athletics.

Eddie Pellagrini, Red Sox—Hit first major league home run in seventh inning for decisive tally in Boston's 5-4 win over Washington.

Dizzy Trout, Tigers—Blanked Chicago White Sox with six blows in 1946 debut, 4-0.

Connie Mack Splits with His Wife, 70, Over Stock in A's

By The Associated Press

PHILADELPHIA, April 23 — Connie Mack and his 70-year-old wife, mother of five of his children, have separated in a squabble over disposition of stock in the Philadelphia Athletics Baseball club.

Mrs. Cornelius McGillicuddy—the Mack's legal name—disclosed the separation yesterday and stated emphatically there was no chance for reconciliation.

Mack, in New York with the Athletics insisted things will be straightened out in a short time."

Mrs. McGillicuddy disclosed the Macks separated in January after she learned her husband had transferred half the stock he owns in the ball club among his three sons, Earle, Roy and Connie Jr.

"I learned in October about his transfer of the stock," she said. "I went to St. Petersburg, Fla., in December and asked him about it. He said it would be straightened out in two or three years.

"He is 83, and life is too uncertain to anticipate what may happen in the next two or three years."

Earle and Roy are Mack's children by his first marriage. He married his present wife in 1910—they had a son and four daughters. One daughter died, but is survived by a husband and son.

Mrs. Mack declared "There are nine persons to be considered in this—his six children, son-in-law, grandson and me. And it didn't sound very good when he gave more than half the stock to three of them."

NEW YORK, April 23—Churchill Downs officials are worried because the 15,000 tulips in the clubhouse gardens bloomed early and may not last until the race meeting opens Saturday...The same can be said for a lot of Derby candidates but they can't dig them up and replant something else... The wives of two managers of Florida State league baseball teams are breaking into the national pastime this season as business managers of the same clubs ...Mrs. Myril Hoag, wife of the former big league outfielder who is managing Palatka, will look after the business affairs of the club and Mrs. Bill Steinecke, wife of the veteran catcher, has the same job with St. Augustine Saints...Which only proves that Myril and Bill won't be able to hold anything out of their pay checks—and that ball players are just the same as most other guys.

Cleveland Lures Star from Green Bay Pros

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, April 23 — The All America Football league has lured its first player from the Green Bay Packers of the rival National league, the star fullback Ted Fritsch, who will do his place kicking and line plunging with the Cleveland Browns this fall.

Fritsch will report for practice August 1, said General Manager and Coach Paul Brown. The salary and terms of the signing were not announced.

BASEBALL BANQUET TO BE STAG AFFAIR

Service Clubs Handle Plans; Tickets Now on Sale.

The first annual baseball banquet to be held April 29 at Masonic Temple will be a stag affair, a spokesman for the interclub council said today. The four member clubs will split responsibility for the arrangements with Kiwanis handling decorations, Lions the dinner, Y's Men's the tickets and Rotary the program.

George M. Trauman, former Bucyrian, now vice president and general manager of the Detroit Tigers will be the principal speaker. The Marion Cardinals will be guests of honor and will be introduced to baseball fans.

The Harding Pep Band has been billed for the program and Ben Kerner of Buffalo, local concessionaire, has told club officials he is bringing an entertainer with him.

Tickets are now on sale at Markert and Lewis and Anson Pickerel stores at $1.50.

4TH PLACE INDIANS BOAST ONE SLUGGER

Rookie Hank Edwards Hitting .555, Gets Job.

By The Associated Press

ST. LOUIS, April 23—At least one member of the Cleveland Indians—Hank Edwards of Norwalk, O.—will sport a healthy batting average as he enters the opening tilt of a two-game series with the St. Louis Browns today.

Tribe Manager Lou Boudreau said the red-headed rookie, who clubbed five hits in his first two games for a lusty .555 average, would replace Pat Seery in right field in an attempt to inject some punch into the Indians' attack.

However, Manager Lou isn't completely disgruntled about the Indians' anemic hitting, which sputtered for a total of six singles during two defeats by the Detroit Tigers.

"With the exception of right field, I'm standing pat," Boudreau declared.

"It's far too early to give up on some of the boys. After all, some of the fellows who showed they could hit prewar pitching haven't warmed up as yet."

Charles (Red) Embree, fireballing righthander who compiled a brilliant earned-run average before entering the Army last year, will take the mound today against the Browns' Denny Galehouse of Doylestown, O.

Five tribesmen, including Bob Feller, remained at Cleveland yesterday to hold informal workouts at League park. The Tribe's roster was cut to 34 players as Eddie Robinson, slugging first base prospect, was optioned to the Baltimore Orioles of the International league.

MENTOR RELAYS SET

By The Associated Press

MENTOR, O., April 23 — The 18th annual Mentor relays, heralded as the oldest high school track event in the state, will be held here May 4.

Marion Gets Big Hand at Columbus Rally

Judge W. Dexter Hazen, president of the Marion Cardinals and F. R. Coss, secretary attended the Fan night celebration at the Southern Hotel in Columbus last night. An annual affair sponsored by the Newark Agonis club, the dinner is the Red Bird's home season opener.

Judge Hazen reports that Marion representatives got the best hand of the evening when members of the Ohio State league were introduced. Marion's feat of winning the ticket sale contest has put the city on the map, he said.

OSL Meeting Held

The two had previously attended a meeting of the Ohio State league where routine hotel arrangements for the coming season were discussed.

At the Fan night dinner, Mrs. Lucy A. Caldwell, veteran scorer from Columbus, was elected Grandstand Manager for the Red Birds this season. Red Bird president Al Banister summarized the training program which cut the squad from 100 to 28 and Manager Charlie Root made a left handed prediction in saying of his team "I hope we can come out on top."

Toastmaster Wayne Fogle was more optimistic. He said that Root smiled just once in 1945—at the Fan night dinner. 'But it's different this year," he said. "He has some ball players. I'm reliably informed that he even has some ball players who shave."

More Dope on Recruits

Judge Hazen has also released some statistics on three of the four ball players recently acquired by Marion.

Douglas Nicholson, right handed pitcher who hurled the last three innings in Sunday's exhibition game, is 24 years old, stands six feet two inches tall and weighs 175. From Rochester, N. Y., he is on the National Defense list and only recently was discharged from the service. This is his first year in organized ball.

Sebastian Schneider is a 23-year-old infielder from Detroit who is also playing his first year in baseball. He is five feet nine, weighs 175, bats and throws right.

William McFarland of East St. Louis, 19, is in his second year in baseball. He is on option to Marion from the Lynchburg, Va., class B club where he played most of last year. He is six feet three and weighs 195. A first baseman, he is at the moment somewhat crippled by an injured ankle. However, local officials say he will be in shape by the time the season opens and are looking forward to seeing him display his home run hitting specialty.

Lima, Marion's Opening Foe Still Has 2 Big Infield Gaps

Second and Short Wide Open with State League Se To Roll in a Week.

The Lima Terriers, Marion's opponent in the Ohio Stat league opener a week from tonight are shaping up well, excep for a gaping hole at second base and shortstop, Joe Halberstei Lima News sports editor, reports.

Manager Charley Moore has his outfield set with Wayne Resid Marv Distler, Elwood Broecker, and a new prospect, Lou Steven of Kenton. Reside played with the Lima club last year battin .338. He hurled 15 games in addition to playing in the outfield and won eight of them. Distler batted .239 and Broecker hit at a .331 clip.

Moore himself may catch or play third base. Other possible catching prospects are Distler, Wilbur Burke and Ray McLeod who played with Lima in the last few games last year. Bob Kinnaman who hit .273 last season is a third base prospect.

Walt Stangry, a pitcher who can eight and lost 13 for an earned run average of 3.79 is back. Virgil Feeney of Paulding, who pitched for Fremont in the old Ohio State League in 1940, veteran Don Slater, who won five and lost five playing part of the season with Marion, and Laverne Fox, a new-comer are also signed.

Jake Curnal, who fields left, bats right, has first base sewed up.

Five Middletown players, Bill Scott, Ed Kruppa, Dick Morse, Dick Oder and Bob Jenkins were purchased by the Terriers. However, so far this season the players and the club have disagreed on contract terms and none of the five have either signed or reported. They will be suspended if they don't make an appearance by opening day.

Since Lima is independent it will get first choice on all players coming down from teams not affiliated with other Ohio State league clubs. Included on this list are the Chicago White Sox, New York Yankees, Washington Senators, Philadelphia Athletics and Philadelphia Phillies.

Dodgers Beat Collegians

Zanesville's Dodgers whipped Muskingum College 5 to 0 in an exhibition match Saturday. The Dodgers got four hits off John Abbot, who went the distance for Muskingum.

Hardy Holt pitched five innings for the pros, giving up two hits, while Jim Partin finished the game, allowing a lone safety.

Ragged fielding accounted f the Zanesville runs after cente fielder Hank Miskowicz double in the second inning. The Dodge themselves fumbled five times b luck and skillful pitching Holt's part prevented disaster.

Manager Clay Bryant is ba in Zanesville with the job of cu ting down his squad from the now working out. The case Maynard DeWitt, last yea star outfielder who hit .316, still unsettled. A decision whether or not he will retu to Zanesville will probably decided this week.

THIS IS MY BIG YEAR, SAYS SHY BOBO NEWSOM

So Far His Record Backs Up His Boast.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, April 23 — In shape to pitch for the first time in three years, by his own candid admission, big Bobo Newsom of the Philadelphia Athletics has launched a one-man campaign of vindication against those who slandered his prowess last season.

"They're going to see the real Bobo this year," promised the 38-year-old right-hander who won the title of "losingest" pitcher in 1945 with 20 setbacks.

"I'm down under 200 pounds again, compared to about 220 last year and my arm feels loose again. I'm gonna win a lot of ball games for Mr. Mack."

For once, at least, Bobo would appear not to be just talking. Thus far, in the 14 innings he has worked against the Yankees and the Red Sox, the two heaviest hitting outfits in the game, he yielded just six hits and one run and chalked up the first two victories credited to the Mackmen.

Ping-Pong Tourney Deadline Delayed

Owing to the lack of entries in the Gold Medal ping-pong tournament sponsored by the Y. M. C. A., the deadline for entries has been moved up to April 25. The tournament will start April 29.

The entries will be divided into three classes, junior for boys under 16, senior high school for boys 16 to 18 and a senior division for all men over 18.

LEO GETS GOOD START

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, April 23 — An accounting clerk who said he was "a great admirer" of Leo Durocher, manager of the Brooklyn Dodgers, yesterday was selected tentatively as foreman of the jury for Durocher's trial on a charge of second degree assault. The 39-year-old Durocher and Joseph Moore, 50, a special patrolman at Ebbets Field, are accused of beating a heckling fan, John Christian, 23, after a night game last June 9.

SECREET BOOKED AGAIN

Erie General Agent Talks To Lions Club

H. G. Cook of Akron, O., general agent for the Erie railroad, was guest speaker at the Lions club meeting Monday at Hotel Harding.

Mr. Cook said that next to agriculture, transportation is the oldest and largest industry in America. He related that during World War II there were 17,000 fewer locomotives, 500,000 fewer railroad cars; and 500,000 fewer men available than during the first World war.

During World war II, he said, the Erie was called upon to handle a million barrels of petroleum products daily. He spoke about freight rates and financial conditions, explained the new slow cooling process cars, and talked on the new and better freight and passenger cars. He also gave a full explanation of the new machines which have been made to detect defects in rails. He commented on operation of Diesel engines and said the Erie is streamlining 25 passenger cars for service.

Guests of the club were Loren Van Horn, a returned Lion member recently discharged from the service as a first sergeant, E. P. Smith of Mansfield, George Wilson, Owen Elder, Bus Lehman, John Austin, J. C. Duer and Bert Freed, all of Marion.

BUCYRUS, April 23—Rites will be conducted Wednesday in the Wise Funeral home for Mrs. Pearl Schieber, 61, widow of Walter J. Schieber, who died Monday in Liberty township. Burial will be in Oakwood cemetery. Mrs Schieber was preceded in death by her husband in December, 1944. Survivors are two daughters, Doris and Ruth, both at home; a brother Alvin Lust of Bucyrus and a sister, Mrs. O. W. Shackelford of Bucyrus.

KENTON STARTS FM RADIO

KENTON, April 23—A construction permit for the FM radio for Kenton's police and fire departments and the Hardin county sheriff's office has been received and the set is expected to go into operation today. The station has been erected for several weeks and awaited only the permit before being put into use.

Ohio Grocer's Suit Against OPA Killed

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, April 23—Grocer William Tieman's suit to restrain the Office of Price Administration from what he termed "summary proceedings which violate constitutional rights" was off the federal court docket today.

The action was dismissed yesterday by District Judge John H. Druffel, who held the suburban retail merchant asked that OPA "be restrained from doing something it actually has not done."

Tieman in his petition asked that an OPA price panel be enjoined from collecting a $100 fine he said the panel imposed on him in alleged violation of his constitutional rights.

The OPA told the court a price panel can recommend a settlement by an alleged violator of OPA regulations but cannot assess a fine. If the violator refuses to pay the settlement, an OPA agent said, the OPA may file suit for damages. There was no such suit filed in Tieman's case, he added.

Council Acts To Speed Opening of Homes for Veterans Here

Mayor Authorized To Deal Directly with FPHA; Sewer Program Also Expanded.

Council Monday night took new action to break the bottleneck in veterans' housing, authorized advertisement for bids on the projected Clinton street sewer, authorized preliminary planning for sewer improvements in Bennett, Glad and Nye streets, and acted on resignations from Mrs. Margaret Bradbury, City hospital superintendent, and Owen Tolin, Second ward councilman.

Another step was taken in the council's effort to reopen Lincoln park camp for veterans' housing by erecting Quonset-type buildings when council authorized the mayor to contact the FPHA. At a special meeting a week ago Monday, council authorized Mayor Dowler to contact the Ohio State housing board for assistance in obtaining the buildings. Mayor Dowler read council a letter last night from the state board in which he was advised to deal directly with the federal public housing authority. Council accordingly repealed last week's measure and passed an emergency resolution authorizing the mayor or a deputy to contact the FPHA immediately. Mayor Dowler said that he expected to receive a representative from the FPHA in the near future and hoped to bring about an early solution of the problem.

City Allotted 25

Marion was allotted 25 of the buildings by FPHA recently, an allotment which would take care of 50 veterans and their families. Since this information was published, however, the veterans' information center in The Star building has been flooded with applications. Up to date, 138 veterans have applied. Mayor Dowler said Monday night that to his knowledge, the buildings stored at Marion Engineer Depot are not Quonsets but are a different type of steel shelter used by the army.

An emergency resolution was passed authorizing the advertising for bids for the sewer improvement on Clinton street, from West Center street south to Woodrow avenue. The Clinton street improvement, the first of a general, long-term program of sewage facilities improvements to be undertaken by the city during the next few years, will probably get underway about the first of July, Safety-Service Director Ed O. Uncapher said today. The project must be advertised three weeks, he said, and then two weeks must be provided for any objectors to the project to come forward. Then the projects will have gone through all necessary legal stages and the contract may be let.

Another sewer project was started on its way Monday night when council authorized the city engineer to prepare preliminary plans and estimates for sewer improvements in Bennett, Glad and Nye streets. The resolution calls for construction of a sanitary sewer in Bennett street from Clinton street to Fies avenue; a sanitary sewer in Glad street from Bennett street to Curve street; a sanitary and storm water sewer in Nye street from Bennett street to Curve street; a sanitary sewer in Nye street from Bennett street south to lot No. 5,211 and a storm water sewer from lot No. 5,211 to the south terminus of Nye street. This project may be undertaken this year Safety-Service Director Uncapher said. These sewers will drain into the Clinton street system and cannot be constructed until that project is finished.

Mrs. Bradbury Resigns

A letter of resignation was received from Mrs. Margaret Bradbury, superintendent of city hospital. Council authorized the safety-service director to accept the resignation. It is effective June 1. Mrs Bradbury said in the letter that she felt she had completed her mission and that it was time to let new hands take over. She took over the superintendency at City hospital in November 1943, succeeding Mrs. Mary Taylor. Under her direction the hospital has been redecorated, rearranged, and a 65 bed addition has been built. She will become superintendent of Mary Lutheran hospital in Bellefontaine June 1. No successor to Mrs. Bradbury here has been announced.

The resignation of Owen Tolin, Republican councilman from the second ward, was accepted by council, effective April 30. Tolin said in his letter of resignation he intends to leave Marion to enter business elsewhere. He recommended Paul G. Simpson to fill his vacancy. No action was taken by council in choosing a successor last night.

Council also passed the final resolution in the proposed improvement of South Main street to be undertaken jointly with the state highway department. The measure calls for the improvement of South Main street from Columbia street to George street, sharing expenses half and half with the state. It was necessary to amend previous legislation passed concerning the matter, since final estimates from state authorities indicate the city's share in the work will amount only to $6,800 instead of $9,100 previously estimated. The work will cover about a half mile. Council restricted parking in the affected areas to parallel parking on each side of the street.

The safety-service director was authorized to buy two automobiles in the open market. One car will replace a worn out car being used by the police department. The other is for use in the service department in connection with work at the site of the new airport.

The appointment of John W. Watters as assistant city solicitor on the recommendation of Edwin B. Spohn, city solicitor, was approved. Watters is a graduate of Notre Dame university, and was a member of the federal bureau of investigation for the last three years.

A petition from Alvin M. and Lucille E. Slob of 248 Leader street to change their property from a residential to a commercial zone was referred to the planning committee. The petitioners desire to put an electric repair and acetyline welding shop in the rear of their property.

A recent petition by the Marion Grain and Supply Co. to vacate the northern end of DeWolfe court was reported out of committee by the street and alley committee. Council authorized the city clerk to publish a legal notice to vacate the area. A hearing will be held in six weeks.

Water hardness analysis for the last two weeks showed a high of 7.3 grains a gallon and a low of 6.6 grains a gallon.

MARKET LIST DROPS WITH PROFIT TAKING

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, April 23—The stock market, with scattered exceptions, retreated to losing territory today although never subjected to any great pressure.

Further profit cashing was blamed partly on the thought that the list had advanced more than eight average points from the February low to a 15-year peak and was vulnerable to a substantial technical correction. Threatened production curtailments in the steel and motor industries due to the coal strike, in addition to doubts regarding important restraints being placed on OPA, inspired a certain amount of liquidation.

Declines of fractions to more than 2 points predominated near the fourth hour.

266 SEND STOCK TO AUCTION HERE

Livestock from 266 consignors was handled yesterday at the Union stockyards auction. Prices were reported as follows:

LOVE'S FAIR HORIZON

By ADELE GARRISON

OLGA flashed a brilliant, disarming smile at her husband, and his impatience visibly vanished.

"I'm sure Olina will be here by the time luncheon is served," she said. "You know how much time girls spend upon their hair and make-up."

"I ought to know," he retorted, with a nuance in his voice that said he had gained his knowledge from his stepdaughter. But his tender, affectionate smile at his regal wife, robbed the speech of any sting, and she turned toward the door leading, as I knew, to the library, and from thence to the dining room and the bedrooms of the suite.

"I'll just give this key to the waiter," she said, and then, with apparent carelessness, added a question to me.

"Why don't you come with me, dear Madge," she asked, "and give him the directions yourself?"

"I'd love to," I returned promptly, and left the room with her, noticing with a backward glance that Philip had ensconced Dicky's wheel chair directly in front of the fire, and was talking animatedly to him, while the boys, still close to the wheel chair, but a little back of it, were all attention.

Had Not Joined Group

But Mary and Noel had not joined the group before the fire. Mary was standing in a direct line with the door through which we were passing, the door, as I knew, through which Olina must make her entrance. Noel was standing close to her with his hands upon a chair in which he patently intended to ensconce her whenever she should wish it. They were chatting in low tones, and my glance at their faces told me that if their talk was not amicable, they were making a good pretense of friendliness.

Then we were out of the door, with it closed behind us, and Olga paused.

"Am I wrong in thinking you wish to ask me something?" she queried.

"You are a witch," I told her smiling. "Yes, I do have something—not to ask you, but to ask of you."

"'To the half of my kingdom,'" she replied lightly, adding with equal carelessness, "which I no longer possess."

"It's about your seating arrangements," I said. "If possible, I want to be seated next to Noel, and I want to have Roderick between Dicky and Junior."

"That can be arranged with no trouble at all," she said. "I will attend to it now, and you can give your directions about the key to Louis."

She handed the key to me, and spoke to the waiter.

"Louis, I am going to excuse you from duty here for a few minutes," she said. "Mrs. Graham will tell you what she wishes done. Then, when you have finished her task, please come back here to help Charles."

"And don't stop to pick any flowers on the way," the saturnine Charles told his helper in a low voice, but with a smile, when Louis, after I had given him a cordial greeting, had taken the key from me, received my directions, and started with alacrity for the service door.

"I won't," Louis returned as softly, with an answering smile, and went out of the door while Olga, with a word to Charles, rearranged the elaborate place cards, of heart-shaped heavy parchment cunningly supported by tiny arms, while on each was hung a small, exquisite vial containing water in which was immersed a single flame-colored orchid.

The centerpiece of the luncheon table, covered with a lace cloth fairly took my breath away.

"Oh Olga!" I exclaimed, as she came back from the table, her task completed. "I never have seen anything so exquisite!"

"I am glad you like it," she said.

"The changes you wish have been made," she said, "and of course I can guess your reason for wishing the seating changed. But tell me, do you expect serious trouble from Noel—or Roderick?"

FINANCIER GRANTED PLEA IN DRAFT CASE

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, April 23—Federal Judge James P. Leamy today granted a motion by Serge Rubinstein, international financier charged with conspiracy to evade the draft,—for a commission to examine two witnesses whose testimony, Rubinstein's attorney said, "will knock the props from under the government's chadge."

Rubinstein was indicted with Allen Gordon Foster, a director of Panhandle Producing and Refining Co., and James C. Hart of Lee, Mass., former president of Taylorcraft Aviation Corp.

The government charging the codefendants made statements to the effect that Rubinstein's induction into the armed forces would impair the wartime efficiency of their companies.

Leo J. Fennelly, Rubinstein's attorney, told Judge Leamy the witnesses were Rodolfo Michels of Santiago, Chile, former ambassador from Chile to the United States, and Antonio Diaz Lombardo, Mexico City banker and airline operator.

He said they would be unable to be in the country for Rubinstein's trial, tentatively set for April 30.

Judge Leamy denied a motion for a commission to take testimony from Jean Guilbert of Paris until such time, he said, as Rubinstein could supply the court "with finality" the names of other witnesses in Europe and England whose testimony is desired.

The court also denied a defense motion to stay the trial, but Chief Assistant U. S. Attorney Irving Saypol said the trial of necessity would be postponed until testimony of Rubinstein's witnesses had been taken.

Penicillin Lozenges

Here's news that may eventually take much of the misery out of ordinary sore throat. A quick, effective and easy cure of this all-too-prevalent ailment may become more than a promise through the use of penicillin lozenges and sulfonamide wafers.

Dr. Harry H. Rosenthal, a Lieutenant Commander in the Medical Corps of the USNR, has tried out both of these preparations with such good results that he now advocates their wide use in the treatment of various kinds of sore throat.

Now, of course, this does not mean that you can afford to be your own doctor in such cases. A physician should always be called in cases of severe sore throat, since in many instances, the infection may be caused by diphtheria germs. In this event an entirely different type of treatment is required.

Then, too, even if your particular sore throat is of the most ordinary kind, you will not be able to tell whether a penicillin or a sulfonamide preparation will do the most good.

Dr. Rosenthal, for instance, found the penicillin lozenge particularly effective in tonsillitis and trench mouth.

The penicillin lozenge is made up of sodium citrate, starch, gelatin, sugar, distilled water and penicillin with oil of peppermint as a flavoring. One lozenge is given every hour and the patient is instructed to allow it to dissolve slowly on the tongue. It has been found that with this treatment, pain is relieved within four hours.

The swelling of the tonsils decreases as much as 25 to 50 per cent within 12 hours and fever and other symptoms are practically gone within a day and a half. In addition to the use of the penicillin lozenges, he suggests gargling three times a day with a dilute solution of hydrogen peroxide to wash away dead tissue.

The sulfonamide wafer is made of sulfanilamide, baking soda, sulfatriazole, wax and oil of peppermint. One tablet is given every two hours and the patient chews it as he would a piece of gum. Dr Rosenthal reports that there is an almost immediate soothing effect on the inflamed lining membrane of the throat and the infection usually disappears within two or three days.

A person with a sore throat usually is not seriously ill. Neglect may cause him to become so, however, since this may be the starting point for more serious infections of ear and lungs. In any case, he is likely to be uncomfortable, so it is good news indeed that doctors now have an easily-used and effective weapon against this common disorder.

Programs on the Air

Still more summer replacements for the networks have been set. Among the latest are two musicals, a new job for Frank Morgan and the Bing Crosby Music Hall line-up.

Nelson Eddy's vacation for CBS begins June 16, when his half-hour will be turned over to Robert Shanley, baritone recently returned from the Army, and Anne Jamison, soprano who has been a winter guest several times.

THE NBC Jazz vs. Classics Sunday matinee is to become a Robert Merrill concert on June 2, with Frank Black conducting the orchestra. Family favorites will comprise the numbers.

Morgan, who ran the Crosby show while he was off so long and still appears as occasional guest, is to take up the Jack Benny time on NBC beginning late in June. He will have a comedy script.

After Crosby leaves his NBC program, closing the current contract agreement, Eddy Duchin will run things from May 16. Later Edward Everett Horton, who in the past has been quite active in summer broadcasting, will be added.

Meanwhile on CBS Danny O'Neil with a band and a general musical show, is to step into the present Arthur Godfrey network time next Monday, five times a week. Godfrey is moving to a later morning hour.

MRS. MARY M'GUIRE DIES AT AGE OF 95

Stricken in Waddell Ladies' Home; Funeral Thursday.

Mrs. Mary Elizabeth McGuire, 95, a resident of the Waddell Ladies Home, died there Monday at 1 15 p. m. She had been in the home ten years.

Born Feb. 22, 1851, in Wood county, she was a daughter of James A. Smith and Jane McCormick Smith, the father a native of Virginia and the mother of Canada. She was married April 15, 1877 in Toledo to Robert McGuire, who died July 19, 1923.

Surviving are two nieces, Miss Emma Smith of Toledo and Miss Louise Tucker of Los Angeles, Calif.

Funeral services will be conducted Thursday at 10 a. m. at the Waddell Ladies Home by Miles Messenger of Marion. Burial will be in Marion cemetery. Friends may call at the Merle H. Hughes Mortuary on Mt. Vernon avenue after 4 p. m. Wednesday and until 8 a. m. Thursday when the body will be removed to the home.

Candidate Takes Cover as Philippines Vote

By The Associated Press

MANILA, April 23—A rumor that he might be kidnaped sent presidential candidate Manuel Roxas scurrying into hiding today, as nearly 3,000,000 Filipinos quietly elected leaders to guide them in the first years of their independence.

The grounds of Roxas' residence were cordoned with machineguns and a detachment of the Philippine army, but the city was unusually quiet. His secretary, Alfredo Jacinto, explained that Roxas was in hiding because he heard "three men from the province of Bulacan" planned to kidnap him.

Roxas, who is president of the territorial senate, earlier had conceded that President Sergio Osmena would win four provinces but claimed victory for himself by 300,000.

Reports reaching Malacanan palace from throughout the islands said the situation was quiet as the polls closed early tonight.

Both Roxas and Osmena pledged for independence, beneficial post-independence trade with the United States and limitless U. S. investment in the islands.

A third—and perennial—presidential candidate Hilario Camino Moncado, campaigned for dominion status.

UNIVERSITY TO SEAT MORRILL

Marion Native To Be Inaugurated in Ceremonies at Minneapolis.

Special to The Star

MINNEAPOLIS, April 23 — Three days of special events at the University of Minnesota that will culminate Thursday morning with the inauguration of Dr. J. L. Morrill as eighth president of that institution are set to start this afternoon with the first of a series of educational conferences that will bring figures of major national importance to the campus. Dr. Morrill is a native of Marion, Ohio.

Nearly three hundred colleges and universities and 90 national learned and scientific societies will be represented by delegates, who will march in caps and gowns of universities all over the world in the academic procession preceding the actual inauguration Thursday.

Dr. Morrill will be inducted into office by Fred B. Snyder of Minneapolis, chairman of the board of regents, who also performed that ceremony at the last formal inauguration of a Minnesota president, that of the late Lotus Delta Coffman in 1921. Other speakers in this ceremony in Northrop Memorial Auditorium will be Gov. Edward J. Thye, Edmund Ezra Day, president of Cornell university, Ithaca, N. Y., and Dr. Morrill, who will deliver his inaugural address entitled "A Profession of Faith."

Other Events Listed

Covering three half days and one evening between tomorrow noon and Wednesday night, the educational conferences will be addressed by Bishop G. Bromley Oxnam, president of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America; Winfield W. Riefler, of the Institute for Advanced Study, Princeton, N. J.; Sen. Wayne Lyman More of Oregon, Dr. Harlow Shapley, famous scientist and director of the Harvard College Observatory; George D. Stoddard, commissioner of education of the state of New York and president-elect of the University of Illinois; Louis S. Headley, president of the First Trust company, St. Paul, Minn.; James B. Conant, president of Harvard university and George N. Shuster, president of Hunter College, New York City.

There will be dinners Tuesday and Wednesday evenings, at the first of which speakers will be Frederick Hovde, one-time Minnesota football star, now president of Purdue; George F. Zook, Washington, D. C., president of the American Council on Education, and Charles J. Turck, president of Macelester College, St. Paul.

DR. J. L. MORRILL

A distinguished Minnesota alumnus, Dr. Raymon B. Allen, dean of the University of Illinois College of Medicine in Chicago, who is president elect of the University of Washington, will speak for alumni at the dinner Wednesday night in Coffman Memorial Union. President John C. West of the University of North Dakota will speak for the National Association of State Universities; Dr. Conrad Elvehjem, University of Wisconsin for the Association of Land Grant Colleges; Pres. Bernhard Christensen of Augsburg College, Minneapolis for the Minnesota Association of Colleges. Speakers will also represent the student body and the faculty.

Among foreign institutions to be represented will be the University of Edinburgh and, in England, the University of Durham, together with those of Liege, Belgium, and Copenhagen. Fuad University, Egypt, will be represented by Dr. H. A. ElTobgy Washington, D. C., director of the Egyptian education office in America.

Dr. Morrill took office as president last July 1, following retirement of Dr. Walter C. Coffey. No formal inauguration was conducted for President Coffey when he took office in 1941, because of the war.

A native of Marion, Dr. Morrill is a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Harry D. Morrill. His father was a salesman for the Lust Candy Co., which operated here for many years. Dr. Morrill was married to Marion girl, Miss Freda Rhodes, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Rhodes, in 1915. They have three children, John Rhodes Morrill of Cleveland, Mrs. Fritz A. Lichtenberg of Columbus, and Miss Sylvia Morrill, a senior at Stephens college, Columbia, Mo. Sisters of Mrs. Morrill are Misses Edna and Blanche Rhodes and Mrs. W. T. Jones, all of Marion.

IRAN MAPS PLANS TO REGAIN AZERBAIJAN

By The Associated Press

TEHRAN, April 22 — Premier Ahmed Qavam announced today a program under which Azerbaijan province might return to the Iranian national government and said that his cabinet had "decided to permit the people of the province to have their ideals realized as far as the constitution and laws of the country permit."

He said that no action would be taken against leaders of the "Democratic party" in Azerbaijan, and that the party would be free to operate.

The Tabriz radio said fighting had broken out south of Mianduab between the Iranian army and Fedailar (volunteer Azerbaijan Democrat warriors) and that "several Fedai were killed and 15 were wounded." The report said army troops used mortars and machine-guns, forcing the Fedai into retreat.

The Azerbaijanic attacked the following day and "regained their positions and captured machine-guns, horses and a few army troops," the report continued. An Iranian general staff officer said no official word of such fighting had been received.

DON'T BE A SLAVE TO CONSTIPATION

Do As Millions Do—Eat KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN For Lasting Relief

Constipated? Using harsh laxative drugs? Millions have solved the problem of constipation due to lack of bulk in the diet. They eat a daily dish of KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN, and drink plenty of water for regular elimination! If you have this trouble and will follow this simple precaution, you may never have to take a laxative for the rest of your life!

ALL-BRAN'S not a purgative. Provides gentle bulk to aid normal, natural elimination. It's a great, naturally regulating food.

Even Richer in Nutrition Than Whole Wheat

Because it's made from the vital outer layers of wheat, in which whole-wheat protective food elements are concentrated. One ounce of KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN provides more than 1/3 your daily iron need—to help make good, red blood. Calcium and phosphorus—to help build bones and teeth. Whole-grain vitamins — to help guard against deficiencies. Protein —to help build body tissue essential for growth.

Get ALL-BRAN at your grocer's. Made by Kellogg's of Battle Creek and Omaha.

Can Endocreme actually help make the face more youthful looking?

Do you know that now . . . through ENDOCREME . . . scientific research has answered the above question for thousands and thousands of women with an emphatic "yes"? Moreover, it is doing this to a degree hitherto thought impossible. This is because ENDOCREME helps improve the skin itself, not merely its superficial appearance. How? Well, only ENDOCREME contains ACTIVOL. This ACTIVOL is a scientific replacement for woman's own skin-vitalizing substance. Absorbed by the skin, it helps to restore normal growth to ageing cells and tissue. Thus it aids the skin of face and throat to become firm, fresh, "alive," vibrantly youthful again. How better can you invest your cosmetic dollars? Try ENDOCREME. Many report distinct improvement in only 30 days.

JUDGE ASKS MERCY FOR DOOMED SLAYER

Says He Erred in Sending McFarland to Prison.

By The Associated Press

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., April 23 —The juvenile court judge who sent Earl McFarland to reform school several years ago for stealing candy, has appealed to President Truman for commutation of the condemned rape-slayer's sentence to life imprisonment.

McFarland, found guilty of killing an 18 year old Washington girl in 1944, escaped from the Wahington jail. He was apprehended here by FBI agents and returned to Washington on April 15.

Judge Hu B. Webster wrote President Truman that "I have no criticism of the court that tried this boy because I made the mistake in early life" in sending McFarland to a reform school.

"I recognize the boy who is brave enough to join the Marines and offer his life as a sacrifice for the freedom of this country, in the words of the immortal Lincoln 'is far too precious to be scrificed.'"

Judge Webster also sent letters to Senator Kenneth D. McKellar and Rep. John Jennings Jr. of Tennessee.

Man Had Brick In His Stomach For 10 Years

One man recently stated that for 10 years he felt like he had a brick in his stomach. This feeling was due to the lump of undigested food he always had inside of him. He was weak, worn out, headachy, swollen with gas and terribly constipated. Recently he started taking ERB-HELP and says the feeling like a brick in stomach disappeared the second day. Bowels are regular now, gas and headaches are gone and he feels like a new man.

ERB-HELP contains 12 Great Herbs; they cleanse bowels, clear gas from stomach, act on sluggish liver and kidneys. Miserable people soon feel different all over. So don't go on suffering! Get ERB-HELP. Sold by all drug stores here in Marion. — Adv.

Social Affairs

A SOCIAL event of the calendar of Beta Sigma Phi sorority was the "Easter Monday" ball held last night in the ballroom of Hotel Harding. About 50 couples in semi-formal dress danced to music by Nels Blocker and his orchestra from Mansfield. Black and gold streamers decorated the ballroom with miniature black bunnies with fuzzy white tails holding the ends.

The sorority crest decorated the table at which punch was served throughout the evening by Miss Zelma Howard and Miss Betty Jenkins. Miss Henrietta Fillatreault received the couples at the door. Decorations were in charge of the members of the Ohio Delta Beta chapter of the sorority, and Mrs. William Preston was in charge of arrangements for the affair.

FERGUSON SAYS HE NEEDS MORE INCOME

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., April 23—State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson declared today that the "low salaries" paid by the state made it necessary for him to set up a private business to support his family.

His statement was made in a letter to the War Assets Administration denying that the auditor's office had been used to further the business of Joseph T. Ferguson Associates, Inc., a dealer in federal surplus goods.

Ferguson, who has eight children, is paid $6,500 a year by the state.

"It is mainly due to the low salaries that the state of Ohio pays its state officials and employes," the letter read, "that I find it necessary—along with other state officials—to make private investment in order to maintain my large family."

The letter was addressed to S. Harry Fosner, special agent-in-charge, in the WAA Cleveland office, who checked with Ferguson's company and Paul M. Herbert, former lieutenant governor, after Herbert declared the auditor was conducting a "racket" from his office.

"I have also been advised," Ferguson wrote further, "that Mr. Herbert has accused me and my associates of using my state office to conduct this private business.

"That accusation is a bold-faced lie and the product of Mr. Herbert's distorted imagination.

"Mr. Herbert also charged me and my associates with using coercion to solicit orders from political subdivisions. This accusation is so fantastically ridiculous that I am surprised that even Mr. Herbert would have thought of such a libelous statement."

Auditor Ferguson, pointing out that Herbert was a candidate for public office, asserted the former lieutenant governor "has been using this opportunity of libeling and slandering me for political purposes."

Galion Rites Are Set for John F. Black

Special to The Star

GALION, April 23 — John Francis Black, 47, native of Galion, and one-time manager of the F. W. Woolworth store in Galion, died suddenly Monday while sitting in a restaurant in Cleveland.

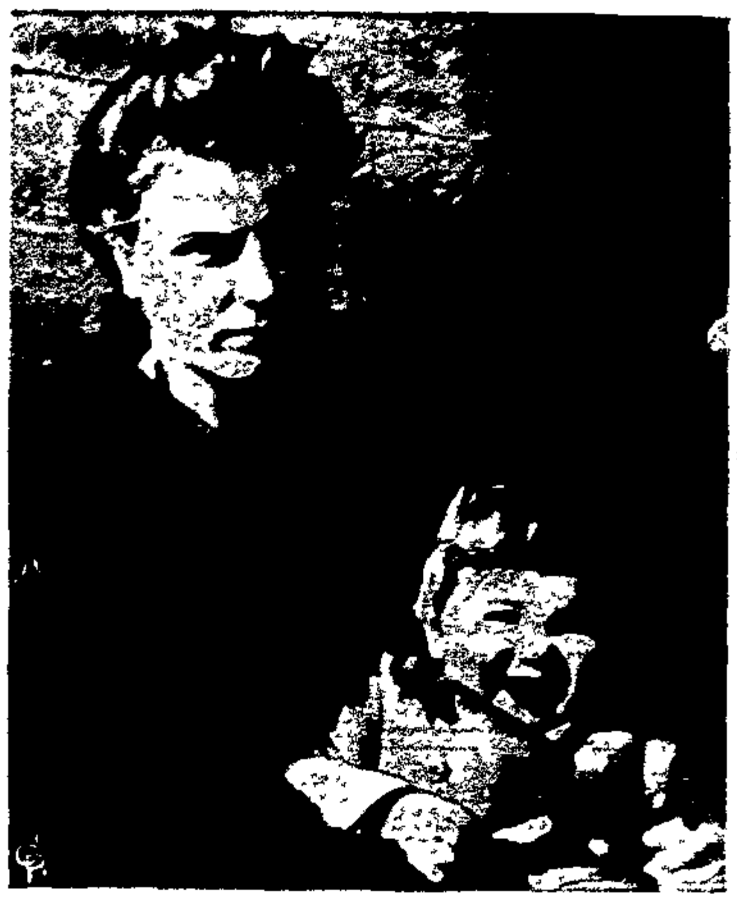
The body is being brought to the Snyder funeral home here.

Mr. Black was born in Galion, May 10, 1898, to William and Laura McAndrews Black. He was married to Wava Branard, who survives.

Besides his widow, he leaves three daughters and one son: Laura May Black, Rose Marie and Betty Black, all of Cleveland, and John Francis Black Jr. of West Virginia. His parents, Mrs. Laura Black of Galion and William Black of Bucyrus, and two brothers, Herbert Black of Galion, and William Black of Detroit, Mich., also are living.

Mr. Black lived in Cleveland for the past 18 years.

Funeral services will be held Wednesday at 9 a. m. in St. Patrick's Catholic church at Galion, with Rev. Fr. William Killoran officiating. Burial will be in Mt. Calvary cemetery.



STOWAWAYS ON BRIDE SHIP. Photographed before immigration officers took them into custody in New York are Mrs. Beatrice Marais and her 9-months-old son, Philip. She stowed away in England aboard the S.S. Washington simply by walking up the gangplank with the boy in her arms and guards didn't stop her. Awaiting a divorce from her English husband, she said she plans to marry a GI whom she refused to name.

Weddings

Announcement is being made of the marriage of Mrs. Nanniebelle Woolum, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sparks of 790 Nelson street, and Donald Moore, son of Mrs. Lavina Piazzi, also of Nelson street, which took place Saturday evening at Bucyrus. The ceremony was read at 6:45 o'clock in the Blaine Memorial Lighthouse by Rev. William Briggs, assistant pastor.

Mrs. Woolum wore a white chiffon dress with a fingertip veil with orange blossoms and her flowers were a corsage of red and white roses. Miss Errel Brady of Marion was her attendant. Edward Moore served his brother as best man. Both recently returned from service in the Pacific theater of operation. The bridegroom was graduated from Harding High school and served in the Army four years.

Mrs. Sparks was costumed in a black dress with white accessories and Mrs. Piazzi wore a blue suit. Both wore rose corsages. Following the ceremony there was a reception at the home of Rev. and Mrs. Briggs. Guests from out of town included Miss Mary Helen Sweeney and Miss Naomi Savage of Chauncey.

Announcement is being made here of the marriage of Mrs. F. H. Johnson of Los Angeles, Calif., a former resident of Marion, to Harry Shore of Los Angeles. The ceremony was read Easter Sunday at 1 p. m. in their newly furnished home on North Sycamore street in Los Angeles.

A reception for their friends followed the ceremony and a dinner was held at the Roosevelt Hollywood hotel. Following a trip to Mexico, they will make their home in Los Angeles. Mr. Shore is a retired business man.

Attending the ceremony were Mrs. Alice Harris and her daughters, Mrs. Fannie Hardesty and Mrs. Theoisia Jantson, Capt. John L. Langley, and Yeoman third class Bruce Johnson, all former residents of Marion.

HOOVER AIDE SEEKS FOOD FOR CHILDREN

By The Associated Press

CAIRO, April 23—Maurice Pate, advisor to Herbert Hoover on child food problems, said today that between 20 and 30 million children in Europe urgently need food—the most poignant human problem in Europe today."

He estimated that two to three hundred million dollars are needed for an adequate supplementary feeding program in Europe and recommended that it consist of at least one meal daily of 600 calories.

Pate, a New York investment banker who headed the Polish child feeding program after the first World War, surveyed current child health and food conditions in Poland, Finland, Sweden, Norway, England, The Netherlands, Belgium, Denmark, Germany, Austria, Yugoslavia and Greece.

"The worst conditions were found in Poland, which has the greatest needs," he said in a report submitted to Hoover, honorary chairman of the U. S. famine emergency committee.

He said in a press conference that the situation in Germany is practically the same as in Poland, but added: "The Germans are better organizers and are making the best of what they get."

PLAY POSTPONED

The senior class play of the Caledonia High school, which was set for this week, has been postponed until May 2 and 3, it was announced today. A music festival set for May 3 has been changed to May 10.

Marion Couple Exchange Vows in Galion Church

THE custom of open church was observed when Eleanor Gandert became the bride of James Rearson Sunday in the United Brethren church at Galion before an altar decorated with palms, lilies and Easter flowers.

A fifteen minute prelude played by Mrs. C. E. Steele included "Because," "I Love You Truly" and "The Sweetest Story Ever Told." Richard Wagner's "Bridal Chorus" from Lohengrin was played for the processional and recessional and "Berceuse" from Jocelyn was played during the single ring ceremony read by Rev. Carl V. Roop D. D.

For her wedding the bride wore a street length dress of white crepe trimmed with white sequin roses. A white hat and white elbow length gloves completed her ensemble. She carried a corsage of white daisies and snap dragons.

The matron of honor, Mrs. Charles Forrey wore a dress of aqua jersey, a white hat trimmed in brown, white elbow length gloves and brown accessories. Her corsage contained pink carnations and baby iris. James H. Herring served as best man. The bride presented her matron of honor with a dress clip set and the groom's gift to the best man was a bill fold.

After a reception given by the bride's mother, Mrs. Margaret Gandert of 615 Mary street, the couple left for a short wedding trip after which they will make their home with the bride's mother. For traveling, the bride wore a turquoise suit with navy blue accessories.

The bride was graduated from Harding High school in the class of 1937 and is employed at the Scioto Ordnance Plant as a stenographer.

The bridegroom, discharged in January from the Army Corps of Engineers which served in the European theater, is employed at the Osgood as a mechanic.

Out of town guests included Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Sohl, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Sohl, Donna Sohl and Richard Sohl of Cleveland.

Galion Rotarians Ask Board To Explain Demotion of Coach

Special to The Star

GALION, April 23—The recent controversy which flared in Galion over the demotion of Coach Robert Sheffer by the Galion board of education, brought a resolution from the Galion Rotary club Monday night, calling on the board to explain its action.

The club, at its dinner meeting at United Brethren church heard Jack Gay give his reasons for resigning from the board of education, recently. Gay restated the case, telling that the board at its March 7 meeting had discussed teacher personnel and discussed other business before he had to leave the board meeting to go out of town on business. He said that it was after he left that the assignment for Coach Sheffer was presented.

The action of the board demoted the coach from all coaching in the school system to a regular teacher assignment. Mr. Gay said he resigned because he had not been informed previously the matter would be brought up; because the action was taken after he left, and because there were no charges to substantiate such action.

Mr. Gay was called upon to give his views in the case by the Rotary club president, Arthur Manzer.

Members of the Rotary club discussed the matter and then passed the following resolution:

"The membership of the Galion Rotary club being actively interested in community betterment, a high standard in business and professional practices and service to youth of the community, resolve that the Board of Education of the Galion City schools being duly elected servants of all of the citizens are and should be responsible for the citizenry receiving a specific reason or reasons for its action in the demotion or dismissal of a teacher, whose tenure of office is distinctly marked by a successful record whose personal qualification stands approved by retention as a member of the faculty of the high school.

"The membership further resolves that sound business transaction by our board of education should be preceded and grounded by the unbiased impersonal practices which are aimed only at maintenance of dignity and respect for our educational institution."

The program which preceded the business session featured a piano duet played by John and William Monroe.

Two visitors, Vernon Lawrence of Mansfield and Paul Williams of Marion, were welcomed, along with one new member, C. Warren Beaty.

BUMPER CROPS SEEN FOR U. S.

Undersecretary Sees Chance Wheat and Corn Output May Set Record.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 23—Undersecretary of Agriculture N. E. Dodd said today there is a "good chance" that this year's wheat and corn crops will be the largest in the country's history.

Dodd based this optimistic prediction on reports he has received in recent weeks from all parts of the country.

He said the early spring season had enabled farmers to get a fine start on planting operations.

Food officials have said the United States and other major grain producing countries must produce bumper crops this year if current famine conditions in war-torn areas are to be averted next year.

Dodd, a farmer, told an interviewer he felt confident farmers would plant nearly 300,000,000 acres of food, livestock feed, and fiber crops. This would be nearly 4,000,000,000 more than were planted last year when the country still was at war.

Helping Production

He said the department is doing everything possible to help farmers exceed last year's output.

Contrary to the belief he said some Americans hold, Dodd asserted that the government is imposing no restrictions on production, except in the case of tobacco. Growers of some types of tobacco have voted, he said, to have the government restrict sales by means of AAA marketing quotas. The restrictions are being imposed because supplies are generally favorable.

The undersecretary said he frequently is asked whether the department "still pays farmers not to produce."

"We are not paying out a cent to farmers for producing less," he said.

Inducements to Produce

Dodd said that on the whole, the department's price support programs and the prevailing market prices are "good inducements" to farmers to produce to the fullest.

He added that programs now being operated by the AAA—once a crop curtailment agency—are designed to encourage greater production than to discourage it.

Present AAA programs involve the distribution of about $270,000,000 a year to farmers who follow soil and water conservation practices recommended by the agency.

FINED IN COAL DEAL

By The Associated Press

TIFFIN, O., April 23 — Melvin Williams, 30, of Portsmouth, O., was fined $250 by Justice of the Peace Paul Ebel, after his plea of guilty to defrauding a Seneca farmer by selling coal under weight. Wilson Jones, 50, also of Portsmouth, was fined $100 last week on the same charge.

Death Ends Career of Lionel Atwill

By The Associated Press

HOLLYWOOD, April 23—Death has ended the long, distinguished theatrical career of Lionel Atwill, who learned his craft on the London stage and came to Hollywood to become one of the most accomplished film character actors of his time.

Atwill, 61, died at his Pacific Palisades home last night soon after suffering a relapse of pneumonia with which he was stricken several weeks ago. His fourth wife, Paula, whom he married about two years ago, was at his bedside.

Atwill was former husband of Louise Stotesbury MacArthur, divorced wife of Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

TUESDAY, APRIL 23, 1946

But Why?

BETTER late than never, the United States finally is taking positive steps to furnish hungry Europeans with a larger share of its agricultural bounty.

The action ordered for the purpose of making more grains and fats available for speedy export should be successful. Public opinion will back up the government in any reasonable program of famine relief.

There are some, of course, as there were during the war who will refuse to cooperate. They will be an annoyance, but since the program outlined so far entails no individual rationing there is relatively little injury they can do.

It would not be surprising if they were unintentionally helpful, insofar as they demand to know why the United States should be taking unusual steps to relieve hunger. The answers to that question are close to the heart and soul of America. It may do us good to rediscover them as an antidote for the cynicism reaching epidemic proportions as part of the aftermath of a war which raised our hopes too high.

The obvious reason why the United States is doing something about famine relief is that it is able to do something. Former President Hoover says only seven nations are able to do anything: the United States, Russia, Great Britain, Argentina, Australia, Canada and Siam. Of these, only the United States is in a position to furnish major assistance. The others, either because of their size, the gravity of their own food problem, or transportation difficulties, can furnish only minor assistance.

The most important reason, however, is not that we have food to share. It is the desire of the vast majority of Americans to share it. The helping hand is in the American tradition. To millions throughout the world it is the unique characteristic of the American people. Contrary to the canard of isolationism, this country habitually has interested itself in the problems of less fortunate nations. Americans have sent their bounty abroad many times as a gesture of good will. They have borne the evidence that some of the gestures were not appreciated with tolerance; they did not expect politicians to appreciate them. This country has been generous, and its generosity is still a going institution.

There is another reason, related closely to this one—the formal concept of international brotherhood as set forth in the charter of the United Nations. The nations of the world are undergoing a momentous test of their faith in one another. The United States, reflecting the will of its people, has taken the initiative in formation of the United Nations. It has been the source again, as it was after World War I, of the only proposal for averting further retrogression into the anarchy of hate and slaughter. If Germany under Hitler and the Nazis had won the war, there would be no discussion now of international action to feed the hungry. Germany had no interest in feeding anyone but Germans. Its aim was to use starvation as an implement for destruction of non-Germans.

These are the reasons why the United States will furnish emergency supplies for starving populations. Against them will be adduced a hundred, possibly a thousand, reasons why Americans should be untrue to themselves and to their national tradition. They are not compelling, singly or in the mass.

Does the Doctor Know?

NOTHING could be more absurd than continued harping on the theme that things must be done thus and so to prevent inflation. Inflation no longer can be prevented. It is here. It has been here a long time. The problem is to deal with it as a reality.

Most of the wage and price boosting making the country nervous cannot be called causes of inflation. They are effects of inflation. The argument in every case is that prices already have gone up, therefore this price or this wage level must go up too. Yet the sounding boards in Washington and the branch agencies elsewhere continue to give out bumbling notices that something must be prevented that already has occurred.

It has occurred, moreover, with government approval and encouragement. Federal policies have been inducing inflation since before the beginning of the war. Since the end of the war, the government has passed few changes to induce inflation, while bellowing pitifully to the public that inflation must be held under control. One may wonder with more than partisan skepticism whether the doctor really knows what is wrong with the patient, or is trying to stop a rapid pulse by twisting a tourniquet on the elbow.

Beginning in 1933 with deficit financing and continuing ever since with the same policy, aggravated by wartime shortages, a slogan of more pay for less work and its decision to flood the country with currency, a Democratic administration has led up to the inflation which it asks the public to believe it is still helping to avert. Either its spokesmen are kidding when they say that, or they simply do not know what they are talking about, and one would be no better than the other.

News Behind the News

By PAUL MALLON

Speaking of Art, Politics and Fakirs.

WASHINGTON, April 23 — The leading article a few weeks back in the "Art Digest," a trade bi-weekly, presented "George Inness Re-Evaluated"—which is to say, a great American landscapist of the middle nineteenth century has been re-valued upward in appreciation by his profession. More than that, the article was a reaction to a show of 47 oils of Inness exhibited in the energetic Springfield, Mass., museum, later to be shown in Brooklyn and Montclair. Two weeks afterward the same publication re-discovered Albert Ryder, whom it hails as "America's great romantic who found that 'something beyond'"—as he superiorly did. It points out Ryder, who composed 150 works, never had a one-man show during his lifetime.

A leading photographic weekly a few weeks back furnished a representative group of George W. Bellows, advertising the presentation as "An American master of realistic painting comes into his own with big memorial show." The always realistic Chicago Art Institute made the collection for an exhibition.

More Expansion Needed

This is all American art needs, a fair showing and a hearing which has been denied it. There are other numerous incidents of similar promotional nature which show the people who can do the job are taking hold, as this column started demanding some months ago. But the trend must expand and continue for several years before our art can get its proper place in the popular mind, which has been confronted for so many generations with European and lately our own thought-enslavement to non-existent beauty—sur realism, non-objectivity and such popular metaphysical attacks upon our realistic senses.

An exposure of this delusive metaphysical art has now been published by the New York Times artist, S. J. Woolf, in an article asking "Is it art or is it double talk?" He likens our recent art status to that of the nation in the famous Anderson fairy tale, where two foreign fakirs came in and deluded an entire nation by getting the people to bring them gold from which they were to weave gold garments, and they succeeded in getting the emperor to dress first in non-existent clothing and all the people to go into rapture over it for fear they would be considered stupid, but finally a little child who saw the sur realist parade shouted: "Why, the emperor has no clothes on." Whereupon the people shook off their hypnotized state of thought-control and saw the child was right.

Misses One Point

Woolf blames the art dealers mostly, and does not mention the communist psychological inspiration for our stupidity, which I think any philosopher not clothed in imaginary gold raiment himself can realize after investigation (See column published March 25). If Woolf does not realize the political inspirations of this art, the believers in it do.

It shows, furthermore, that the problem and the remedy is greater than Mr. Woolf suspected. It is more than a fault of the dealers. They will sell what the public wants and unless the public is hoodwinked by metaphysical means—it will not buy such delusions.

The problem then is to break up such metaphysical controls over the people and the way to do it is not only by direct realism, but by metaphysical means to establish the normal senses and common sense. We must not only show our own real art and establish its proper place to the open minds of our people, but break the controls from the totalistically deluded.

I do not think this is needed in art as much as in politics, because in art people are confronted with a visible object and under any normal circumstances can, in bulk, and as a people, protect themselves against such an imposition upon their normal intelligence and imagination. But in politics, world politics, there is dire and critical need for realism, and a necessity for exposure of those who have established unrealistic politics to dupe the people. They should always be required to face the facts in UN and elsewhere, upon all printed pages, through all microphones.

Step on Fakirs

Do not let our people fall for any non-existent beauties of politics or art. Make the fakirs prove their case before the bar of common justice with their controls off—in UN or in art museums—or better yet, break up their metaphysical controls. In any way possible, save the people from the delusions of sur realism in metaphysical politics.

A New Wrinkle:
The Dishpan Face

A New York style expert declares women are more attractive with wrinkles.

This is a revolutionary viewpoint. Small wonder the National Association of Cosmetic Manufacturers is demanding he be investigated for un-American activities.

Well do they realize that if his idea catches on, Lady Esther, Max Factor and Harriet Hubbard Ayer may have some new competition in the beauty-lotion field—Madame Pruneface.

Is the day coming when satiny, smooth skin is spoken of in soap opera circles in the same horrified tone currently reserved for dishpan hands; when radio announcers will wax eloquent over their own roads to every girl's dream a dried-peaches and cream complexion?

Incidentally, if wrinkles become the rage, women will go in for a new beauty aid, corrugated pillows.

Somehow, I have my doubts about them ever becoming popular. It's true that wrinkles do denote character. But most women had rather carry letters of reference.

The National Debt

By CHARLES MOLONY

WASHINGTON, April 23 — Don't figure on seeing the national debt paid off in full.

Chances of that happening in the lifetime of anyone old enough to read this are virtually zero, government men say. It would be a mammoth historical upset.

The debt has been reduced several billion dollars recently and it'll be reduced further in the next couple of months—but only out of unneeded cash the government got earlier by borrowing.

A Temporary Benefit

Unless the government's income and spending reverse their roles of recent years and start providing surpluses, debt reductions will stop soon with exhaustion of the unneeded borrowed funds. Then debt increases will start again.

Hopes are rising that the budget may be balanced and a surplus brought in during the fiscal year beginning next July 1, but President Truman has taken a cautious attitude about it.

He said tax receipts will be "substantially higher than estimated (last January)" during fiscal 1947, and reiterated that "we are on our way to a balanced budget."

Still a Big Deficit

But, bearing in mind possible expenditure increases from proposals such as those for housing subsidies, higher military pay and the like, the President didn't change his estimate that fiscal 1947 would end in a deficit of $4,347,000,000. (Difference between debt and deficit: Debt is the total amount of money owed. Deficit is an excess of expenses over income during any one year. Debt builds up after one or more years of deficits.)

Just to get an idea on possibilities for wiping out the deficit, imagine for a moment that instead of a deficit, the year turned up a surplus of $4,347,000,000.

It would take more than 63 good years like that—which is into the next century—to pay off the debt.

It Has Never Happened

Nothing like that has ever happened. Debts have always jumped in wartime and never have gone back to the prewar level.

Almost everybody thinks it would be a good thing to cut the debt back from its present figure of well over $270,000,000,000, but many think it would be unwise to wipe it out.

Some, especially private financial interests, contend that a debt is dangerous, in degree according to size—that it makes for unsoundness in the economy, undermines confidence needed to achieve prosperity, and drains the public to meet interest payments.

Interest Is Big Load

Interest costs now run over $5,000,000,000 a year, and that's one expense that makes it tougher to balance the budget.

Some other financial students, including many government economists, insist that the debt, provided it isn't unreasonably or unmanageably large, isn't serious or even too important as long as there is a proportionately high and growing national income.

This view goes on the theory that the important thing is not so much what you owe but what income you get to pay it off with—a $100 debt isn't so tough on a man making $100 a week as on one making but $100 a month.

And, they contend, retirement of national debt on a large scale would bring about a number of circumstances that would result in reduction of national income at an even faster rate, so it might just bring on a depression that would be far worse than debt.

Germans Want Music —Not News

By The Associated Press

BERLIN—Germans would rather listen to music than news on their radios, a survey by Allied Military Government shows.

The sampling of opinion, announced by Brig. Gen. Robert A. McClure, Director of Information Control, disclosed that 65 per cent want musical programs. Twenty-five per cent prefer news of an interpretative nature. Less than 10 per cent want political commentaries.

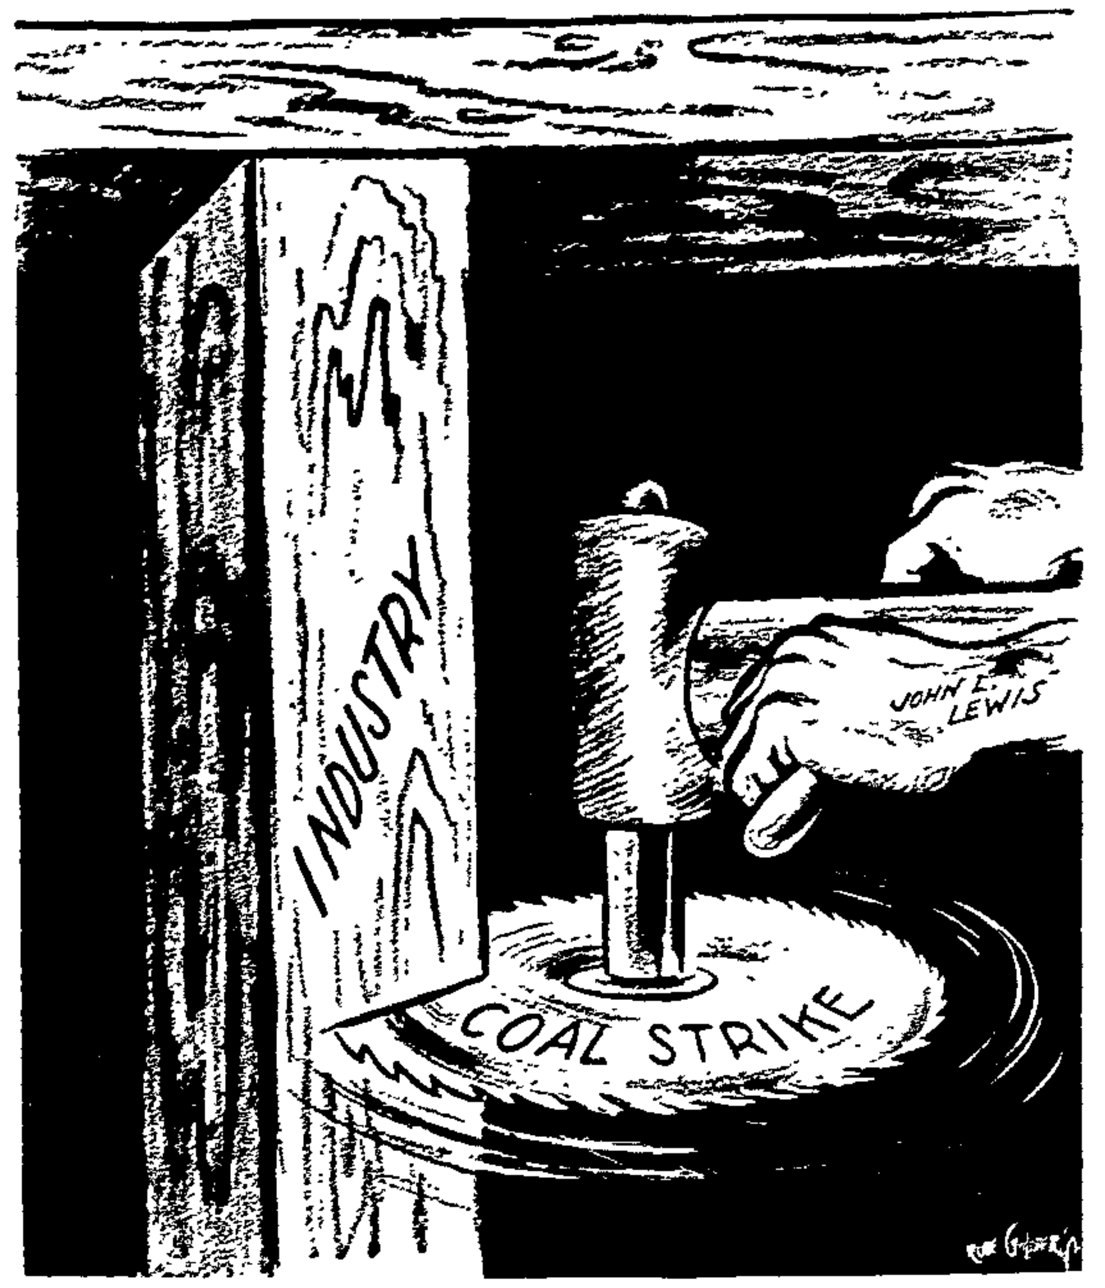
WHILE OUR EYES ARE ELSEWHERE



From News of Other Years

TEN YEARS AGO

It was Thursday, April 23, 1936.

More than a score of flying flood control enthusiasts pointed their airplanes east from Columbus on the second half of a tour from Cincinnati to Washington to arouse public interest in the $215,000,000 Copeland bill to harness the Ohio river through construction of 37 reservoirs.

Rev. John R. Duffey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Horace Duffey of 569 South Prospect street, was ordained in the Baptist ministry in services conducted at West Mansfield.

The "Variety Show of 1936" was presented at the Thomas A. Edison Junior High school under sponsorship of the Oakland Heights Booster club. An audience of approximately 500 residents of that community attended.

Mrs. John Eichhorn was elected president at a combined business and program meeting of the Pleasant P.-T. A. E. E. Banning was named vice president, Mrs. Edward Dutt, secretary and Mrs. Emerson Dickson, treasurer.

Charles Lindsey and Paul A. Mickley, with a score of 55½, headed players in the weekly duplicate contract bridge game at the Masonic temple.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Miles William Ingram of 307 Latourette street.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

It was Friday, April 23, 1926.

Miles A. Smith, 18, of Cardington, won the Martin L. Davey forestry conservation scholarship contest in competition with nearly 5,000 competitors. The scholarship was valued at $4,000.

Falling $5,794 short of the $20,250 goal set for the Marion Y. M. C. A. yearly expense fund, campaign workers agreed to continue solicitation for several weeks and close with a final one-day drive on May 20.

Potatoes were selling here at $3.75 a bushel, strawberries at 25 cents a pint, tomatoes 35 cents a pound and green string beans at 25 cents a pound.

Deposits in the city school savings system totaled $3,420 in the first three weeks of its operation, School Supt. Mason reported.

Announcement was made that Marion musical talent would broadcast from station WAIU, Columbus, the following Monday night. A committee composed of Asa Queen, LeRoy Zachman and H. J. Mautz was drawing up the program. It was sponsored by the Marion Chamber of Commerce and Bert Brashares, district manager of the American Insurance union.

War or Peace

Wartime control acts follow no definite pattern of termination. OPA would expire on June 30 unless extended, selective service on May 15. But many other acts specify they are to terminate six months after the actual end of the war, or six months after the end of hostilities as proclaimed by the President or fixed by concurrent resolution of Congress. Others last during the "emergency."

In fixing termination dates Congress had in mind the situation after World War I. When the Treaty of Versailles went into effect on Jan. 10, 1920, the United States officially was still technically at war with Germany.

In May, 1920, Congress passed a resolution repealing the declarations of war against Germany and Austria-Hungary and declaring a state of peace.

President Wilson vetoed the resolution, as placing "ineffable stain upon the gallantry and honor of the United States." He said that by entering upon a state of peace with Germany this country would be achieving none of the aims for which it entered the war and would be withdrawing from international cooperation. A motion in the House to override the veto fell 20 votes short. In 1921 Congress repassed the resolution and President Harding signed it.

Can G. O. P. Control Congress?

By RAYMOND MOLEY

SINCE tradition has consigned to chairmen of the Republican and Democratic national committees the ungrateful task of inspiring rather than informing, it has been customary to allow them a bit of poetic license. In short, they must keep up appearances and they have to say what they don't believe or what nobody else believes. They must make claims which are reeking with hope, while their inner souls are swimming in despair.

Hence B. Carroll Reece must make it seem as if a 1947 Republican Congress is practically in the bag. There are, he says, only 27 seats to capture. Several will be picked up in the border states, two or three will be found in the deep south. And so on. All this because there is a "tide" running against the Democrats.

Where Is The Tide?

I cannot argue about the "tide" part, although I have, in some traveling about, found no particular "tide" running in any direction. But if a Republican congress is to be elected this fall, there will have to be more than a "tide." It will have to be a tidal wave. And even the most optimistic find no evidence of anything of the sort.

It is not pleasant to set down these words of caution, for a Republican congress might be a useful check on the present CIO-PAC-ridden administration. But facts are facts.

Mr. Bronson Batchelor of New York, an intelligent student of politics, has written, for private circulation, an analysis of what is involved in electing a Republican congress. What he says makes a great deal of sense. Incidentally, Mr. Batchelor is a Republican and he would like nothing better than to see the Republicans back in power. But he is also a realist.

The Democrats, he points out, hold 103 seats in the south, and he does not believe the Republicans can take any of them. That leaves 109 Democratic seats in the north and 31 Democratic seats in the border states.

40 Seats Necessary

Mr. Batchelor points out, further, that a gain of 27 seats would not assure firm control of the House. At least 40 seats must be wrested from the Democrats to assure a working majority.

This means that the Republicans must hold all they have and win from the Democrats approximately one-third of their northern and border seats. The Republicans cannot hope to do this by picking up rural seats here and there. They must crack directly into the big metropolitan centers, now controlled by Democratic bosses and [illegible]. There are 57 such seats, and for nearly 20 years Republicans have been losing, not gaining city seats. They now have only 17.

The Republicans have, as Mr. Reece accurately points out, been winning back House seats almost consistently since the debacle of 1936. But they have won back normally Republican seats. They are now down to bed rock, and the digging will be harder. It is like the fat man who finds in reducing that the first ten pounds are easy but that positive agony attends the going after that.

Only two factors could break the difficult situation described above. The first would be a great panic or scandal. Neither is likely to break. The second would be an organized effort by the Republican party as intense, skillful and pervasive in all the district of the north and border as the CIO-PAC put on in a few districts in 1944. Such a drive is simply not possible under the present Republican headquarters organization. It is better than it was but it is far from being an effective fighting outfit.

Meanwhile, every resource useful in swinging votes in industrial districts is in the hands of Mr. Hannegan and the CIO-PAC. And nothing will be forgotten this year. It would take a landslide to change the complexion of congress, and no landslide is in sight.

So They Say—

Germany has a healthy trade union movement and it is very much anti-Nazi, many of its leaders having served in concentration camps."

HERE IS THE

NEW and IMPROVED SCHOOL BUILDING PROGRAM

For Better Opportunities for Our Children and a Better, More Prosperous Marion

WITH THIS WE CAN TAKE OUR GREATEST STEP FORWARD IN A GENERATION! READ IT CAREFULLY—WE BELIEVE YOU'LL ENDORSE IT HEARTILY.

CENTRAL JUNIOR:

This is Marion's oldest school building. To spend taxpayers' money to rehabilitate these buildings would be false economy for three reasons.

1. The location is noisy and dirty. Dozens of trains passing daily make it hard for pupils to concentrate on study and difficult for teachers to hold attention. The downtown location subjects every pupil unnecessarily to the dangers of city traffic

2, The buildings are so far out of date and in such a bad state of repair that to attempt to make them modern and fireproof would cost more than it would be worth.

3 This is one of the most valuable parcels of land in the city for business development even though it is not suitable for school purposes. When the new schools are completed, it is the opinion of the School Board, and most citizens, that this property should be leased on a long term lease or sold outright to the highest bidder. The handsome revenue derived from such disposition would be used to reduce the school bond indebtedness by the School Board. Since it will be several years before action can be taken on the property the taxpayers are assured that disposition will be to their greatest benefit at the time.

The above reasons clearly indicate that this property should be abandoned for school purposes, sold for the top dollar, and the proceeds applied to reduce the bonds.

EDISON:

Edison Junior High is one of Marion's finest, newest, and most modern buildings. No capital improvements are needed on this site since the building was constructed in 1930 A modern lunch room is to be installed in rooms that can be made available for this purpose.

FOREST LAWN AND GREENWOOD:

The Forest Lawn and Greenwood schools are of non-fireproof construction, improperly heated and poorly ventilated, with open stairways and obslete electric wiring They have direct outside fire escapes from each second floor room, but none from any first floor rooms. From a business viewpoint, they have outlived their usefulness because they are expensive to operate and maintain. Abandonment of these schools and transfer of their pupils to newer and better buildings would reduce overhead costs and benefit the pupil. This property will be sold at public auction to the highest bidder and the proceeds will be applied against the school bond indebtedness.

GEORGE WASHINGTON:

This is Marion's newest building. It was constructed in 1931. There is no need for capital improvement or rehabilitation at this time.

GLENWOOD: MARK: NORTH MAIN: OAKLAND AND PEARL:

New electric wiring service and modern lighting fixtures will be installed in each of the above buildings. This will put them in good condition.

HARDING BUILDING:

The vocational division of the senior high school will be housed in the Harding High School building and the Harding Shop. This building will be made usable for this purpose by moving classroom partition walls to make large rooms for shops and laboratories, by reconditioning the heating system, and by converting one of the present study halls into a small auditorium. This latter would be valuable for the community as a downtown meeting place for small groups.

Many high schools throughout the country have increased and are increasing the number of courses offered to meet the needs of those students who want vocational education as well as general education. By using Harding facilities in this way, many additional courses could be offered in the regular high school program, such as. building trades, electrical trades, automotive trades, metal trades and an expanded program for girls wishing to acquire skill in the field of their choice.

Experienced personnel will be available for aptitude guidance so that pupils desiring it, may be directed to the field in which they may naturally become the most proficient and which offers the greatest future for them.

A splendid night vocational school can also be instuted for adult training. This would be of great value to our returning veterans as well as those adults who wish to secure more technical training.

OAK STREET:

This building will be extensively remodelled and a new community room with a seating capacity of 250 will be newly constructed. This community room will be available to students attending Oak Street and to adults for their school social and entertainment functions.

The remodeling of Oak Street would involve the removal of the present fire escapes and the installation of new fire resistant stairwells and stairs; the laying of new floors throughout the building, and the pointing up and repairing of the exterior of the building.

OLNEY AVENUE:

New electric wiring service and new modern fixtures will be installed throughout the building.

In addition to the above rehabilitation there will be a new community room constructed with a seating capacity of 250 This will make a desirable, comfortable and convenient spot for all of those interested in Olney Avenue activities.

SILVER STREET:

Serious consideration was given to the building of a new school on this location. After facts and figuros were assembled it was determined that a complete modernization of this building would bring every advantage of a new building plus a large savings to the taxpayers. The walls and foundation were found to be perfectly sound so that the following repairs, in the opinion of the School Board and the architects, constituted the most practical solution.

A new community room will be constructed at Silver with a seating capacity of 250 persons. This addition plus those at Olney and Oak Street schools will provide a community room at every elementary school in the city.

The remodeling includes the following items; improved toilet facilities and lavatories; laying of new floors in all classrooms and corridors; removal of present windows; enlargement of the openings, installation of supporting beams and installation of metal sash and new windows (this will provide for a much greater light area in each room); construction of interior steel stairway exits from each class room now serviced by exterior exits; removal of present wood stairways and replacement thereof with steel stairways; new electric wiring service and fixtures throughout the building; removal of the present heating system and the installation of a modern one, new wainscoting throughout the building; sandblasting of exterior walls and pointing up thereof; and complete redecoration of the building. After this work is done the building will look like a new one and have all of the advantages for the students that a new modern building would have.

VERNON:

New electric wiring will be installed throughout the building and modern lighting fixtures will be added. Whatever rehabilitation is needed at the time will be included to bring this building up to modern occupation standards. Junior High school pupils will be sent to the new Junior-Senior High School when this is ready for occupancy or to the new Junior High School on North State when it is completed. This building will then be converted into an elementary school.

THE NEW JUNIOR HIGH SCHOOL ON THE NORTH STATE STREET SITE:

This new Junior High will be comparable to Edison Junior High in size, facilities, and appearance. We have long needed a Junior High in this location, both for its convenience to the homes of north side children and because Central Junior High School is so completely inadequate and out of date

This building will be absolutely modern in every respect. Class rooms will be large and light. The heating system will be healthful and of the newest type. Needless to say the building will be fully fireproof and large enough to accommodate a normal city growth for a number of years It goes without saying that students privileged to attend a school in a building of such high standards will not only do better, more interested work but will be attracted to complete their educational career

In addition to a complete Junior High School, there will be included on this site an auditorium large enough to accommodate all normal requirements, a modern inexpensively priced cafeteria and a fully equipped modern gym. This gym, plus the one at the Junior-Senior site and Edison will permit a spirited athletic rivalry between Marion's three Junior Highs on "home grounds." Such an opportunity will do much to increase Marion's future athletic prowess.

NEW JUNIOR-SENIOR HIGH SCHOOL BUILDING:

The new junior-senior high school building will be located on the athletic field site. Junior and Senior divisions of the school will be housed in separate parts of the building. However, common use will be made of many facilities, such as, auditorium, gymnasium, and cafeteria, thereby reducing the cost of such services materially.

The advantages to the youth of Marion that would come as the result of having a modern building of this type, properly equipped, cannot be over estimated. Everyone recognizes that good teaching is of first importance. However, good teachers get better results by having a proper place in which to teach

This building will be of sufficient size to house the senior high school pupils of the city and the junior high school pupils of this area. A modern cafeteria to seat 500 at one time will answer the needs of the school and will be available for large public meetings. Provisions will be made for sufficinet class rooms and laboratories of the size and type needed to meet the requirements of the several departments in the school. Plans call for an auditorium with a capacity of 2,000. It will be available for general community use as well as for school purposes. The benefit to the city from such an auditorium will be very great. Here will be presented not only the dramatic and musical events of our own city, but also guest artists.

The need for a gymnasium of an adequate size both for performers and the audience is generally recognized. Marion has long suffered for the lack of one. Therefore, the gymnasium is being planned to accommodate up to around 4,000. Adequate shower and dressing room facilities will be included for physical education purposes. There will be plenty of parking space for the spectators.

The gymnasium and auditorium will help to attract many conventions and tournaments to Marion. The benefit of such groups visiting our city would be valuable from many angles.

Many have not realized the great advantage of having the High School on the site of the athletic field. With this space available the entire student body can participate in a beneficial, health-building, out-of-doors, athletic program. This is not possible on the present site of Harding High. Practice for the athletic teams could be started immediately after the close of school without the waste of time now involved going to and from the Harding Stadium. Several new competitive sports could be taken up. All in all, the caliber of Harding High athletics as well as the general health of the whole student body would be improved by this efficient arrangement.

This then is the new proposed school building program for Marion and Marion children. This vast improvement will find Marion still behind a few cities in the state of our size but it is a mighty big and necessary step forward. We believe that practically every citizen will agree that these buildings and building improvements are desperately needed and ought to be provided for NOW.

THE SCHOOL PROGRAM IN BRIEF:

1. Remodel Silver Street school and build a new community room.
2. New electric wiring and fixtures in elementary buildings.
3. Community Room at Olney Avenue school.
4. Remodel Oak Street school and build Community Room.
5. Lunch room at Edison school.
6. New Junior High School on North State Street.
7. Remodel Harding to provide Vocational Division of the High School and a medium-sized downtown auditorium.
8. New Junior-Senior High School on athletic field site.

PLEASE REMEMBER! The Major Building Program Will Not Start Until Local Conditions are Right—But, We Can Start the Plans Now, To Be Ready—And, Improve the Grade Schools Soon.

Membership Drive Launched by Marion Concert Association

Headquarters Opened; Goal for New Season Increased; Enrollments To Close Saturday.

Headquarters for the membership campaign of the Marion Concert association opened today at the H. Schaffner Co. store. In charge is Mrs. H. K. Mouser, chairman, assisted by Mrs. A. G. Birch, who is headquarters secretary, Harold Welch, organization director from Community Concert service, division of Columbia Concerts, Inc., of New York City, and workers include members of the Marion Lecture-Recital club and volunteers interested in bringing "the best in music" to Marion for the concert season of the fall and winter of 1946-47.

A dinner meeting of workers was held last night in the Marion clubroom of Hotel Harding when procedure of the campaign was explained and membership cards and other campaign materials distributed. Chairmen of campaign teams were named, and a part of the meeting was broadcast over radio station WMRN.

Mrs. Karl Schell, mistress of ceremonies, introduced Arthur J. Peterson, executive of the Universal Cooler Corp., who spoke briefly on the importance of music from an industrial standpoint. He told of improved results in industry when workers receive benefit of music on their jobs. Stating that the reaction of employes more and more is in favor of this policy, and that the idea will be put into practice in the near future in the industry with which he is connected.

Value of Music Emphasized

In his talk Mr. Welch stressed that "a city does not become an important focus in a geographic area simply because there are good roads leading to it from all directions, or because its merchants offer unrivaled bargains or because its industries are prosperous."

"These are all vitally important to be sure," he said, "but more fundamental still are certain other factors—the character of schooling; the number and activity of its churches; the standing of its professional men; the facilities it affords for cultural improvement and the calibre of cultural entertainment it can offer its residents. These factors are every bit as important for well-balanced development as good roads, prosperous industries and other material benefits. It is this thought that should foster your interest and appreciation of the work the Marion Community Concert association is doing to provide you with musical entertainment of the first rank—for surely, good music is a necessity in the educational, cultural and entertainment life of every community.

"The Concert association has made a splendid beginning in providing this need. During the past year, you have had the pleasure of hearing and seeing here in your own city such outstanding artists as James Melton, Carroll Glenn and the Fox Hole Ballet. This is indeed an impressive list. But any member of the executive committee of the Concert association will tell you that these presentations are only the beginning, as the committee ultimately hopes to accomplish much more for the members and for the musical reputation of the community.

Membership Goal Higher

"Last year there were 1,012 members in the Marion Community Concert association and the goal this year is 1,538, the capacity of the Palace theater, where the concerts will again be held.

"It is apropos, I think, in speaking of the committee, to mention that the officers as well as the workers of the Concert association devote their time and effort to bring these excellent entertainments to you and they do so without thought of any compensation other than the enjoyment of the concerts and of the satisfaction gained in contributing to the musical life of your city.

"Their great hope, of course, is to establish a permanent audience that is interested in good music—not just one "name" attraction a year. One concert a season is not enough! Certainly you need at least three good musical programs every season. Generally it is planned to have one headliner, depending, of course, upon the amount of money available after the membership dues are collected. This year the artists most frequently mentioned to me so far, for presentation, have been Rise Stevens, Bidu Sayao, and Igor Gorin. However, many times in the quest for big names we lose sight of the great young talents—the stars of tomorrow. It is not so many years ago that Nelson Eddy, Grace Moore, Lily Pons and other great stars were youngsters starting out in quest of fame. There are many great young artists available to you now at modest fees who will be the headliners of tomorrow. It strikes me from a business point of view, that buying the young stars on the "way up" before they are so renowed that they can command large fees, is a wise policy.

Financing Details

"In any event, my purpose is not to discuss artists tonight. That would be putting the cart before the horse. Before the association contracts for the series, all membership dues must be collected. The artists are booked in accordance with the amount of money in the bank at the close of the drive. A large membership means a large budget. Therefore, with strong support you can bring to Marion the elite of the artistic world.

"Specifically, the backing the association needs is your membership. The cost is $6 for adults and $3 for students, including tax. Membership entitles the holder to attend all concerts presented by the association this year. The campaign goal is 1538 members. With the money on hand from that number of memberships the association would have almost unlimited choice in the selection of artists.

"In a city-wide canvass, it is impossible to reach every one personally who is interested in the movement to bring fine artists to Marion. If you are not contacted personally, it is a pure oversight. There are no requirements for membership other than the desire to join the association. Every one is invited to join! Or, if you are entirely uninterested and a worker does approach you, how about taking a gamble on the musical future of Marion. Buy a membership and loan it to some one else if you do not care to use it—but, in any event, back a movement which has the very worthy and concrete objective of making Marion a better place in which to live."

Hopes Fulfilled

Mrs. Mouser described the venture of bringing top-flight artists here as "a step forward which we had dreamed of taking many times, but never had actually untertaken." She summed up the attempt as "a most successful one." Going back into the history of music in Marion, she pointed out that concerts brought in previous years, including well-known artists, had been financed by "a few courageous persons" who faced danger of taking personal deficits. She praised the new method of securing memberships in the Marion Community Concert association, by getting finances first, then choosing artists accordingly.

"On the eve of our second campaign, with a goal of filling the Palace theater, the interest and enthusiasm already shown assure a successful one," she affirmed, paying tribute to those who as last year, as for this campaign, will "with untiring work at headquarters, give unselfishly of their time and effort."

Week's Campaign

The campaign will be carried on this week, closing Saturday, and membership will not be available after that date. The headquarters will be open each day from 10 a. m. to 5:30 p. m., it was announced.

Captains of teams are the following: Mrs. Arthur Amick and Mrs. Ralph Hancock; Miss Katherine Thew and Mrs. Ione Lane; Mrs. E. P. McAfee and Mrs. Charles Feaver; Mrs. O. D. Anderson and Miss Molly Johnston.

Mrs. Eliza Williams was chairman for the meeting last night. Mrs. Warren Wise and Miss Dorothy Buckley were in charge of decorations, assisted by Mrs. LeRoy Schneider. Tables were centered with arrangements of lilacs and tulips surrounding tall lighted candles.

Police Battle 2,500 at Italian Prison

By The Associated Press

MILAN, ITALY, April 23—More than 1,000 policemen, reinforced by light tanks and armored cars, surrounded San Vittore jail today, firing continuously at the walls and windows of the prison where 2,500 convicts have been rioting since Sunday.

Continuing their resistance, the prisoners fired back sporadically after a night of terror in which they threatened to hang 10 of the 25 guards which they are holding as hostages. The fate of the hostages was not known.

One jailer and two prisoners were reported killed by gunfire during night, and approximately 30 persons were reported killed by gunfire during the night, and approximately 30 persons wounded.

During a brief truce, a number of nuns and 150 women prisoners were removed from the jail, which was described as "more of a battlefield than a prison."

Senate Group Votes To Cut Debt Limit by $25,000,000,000

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 23—The senate finance committee voted unanimously today to cut the public debt limit from $300,000,000,000 to $275,000,000,000.

Senator Byrd (D-Va) said such action would put treasury borrowings on a pay-as-you-go basis.

Secretary of the Treasury Vinson agreed to the proposed reduction after the committee provided that the statutory debt should include only actual obligations and not the full face value of outstanding notes.

Byrd explained to newsmen that, under present law, the treasury carries at $25 value—as far as the statutory debt limitation is converned—Victory bonds originally purchased by holders for $18.75.

Vinson said the provision to list these and other bonds at the actual amount now due on them, would cut $10000,000,000 off the statutory debt as now calculated by the treasury.

USED CAR "RACKET" LAID TO SHORTAGE

By The Associated Press

DETROIT, April 23 — Private efforts to fill an acute need for wartime public transportation in the south caused the deals which resulted in 31 indictments on charges of violating OPA ceiling prices on used cars, an OPA investigator said yesterday.

The federal grand jury indictments, announced here Friday, said the defendants realized more than $3,000,000 in profits through sale of cars purchased in Detroit and sold for prices averaging $600 over ceilings.

Charles O. Bannon of Cleveland, field chief of the OPA special investigation division, said it was found that "practically no one mixed up in the deals liked the business.

"But it was considered a necessity, because the public transportation of the south, during the war, was not equal to the demands on it."

The majority of accused persons are residents of Michigan, Kentucky, Illinois and Missouri. Assistant U. S. Attorney Joseph C. Murphy said he expected most of them to surrender early this week.

"What we did was to take down the license number of every out-of-state car we found," Bannon said. "Then we checked the car right back to the original owner."

Since September, 1945, he said, agents traced the ownership of more than 5,000 automobiles through two, three, and sometimes four hands.

U. B. Building Fund Boosted Easter Day

A goal set by First U. B. church for an Easter offering Sunday was overreached when the amount of $4,416 was brought in at the services, Rev. Garrison Roebuck, pastor, reported. The goal was $3,000. Cash in the amount of $2,700 was received. A total of over $60,000 is now in the building fund, and the congregation plans to build as soon as general circumstances permit the go ahead signal on construction, Rev. Roebuck said.

Mackenzie Says Big Four in Need of Horse-Trading

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

Come Thursday and one of the most momentous of the Allied post-war conferences will get under way in Paris—the meeting of the Big Four foreign ministers: Byrnes of America, Molotov of Russia, Bevin of Britain and Bidault of France.

It isn't going too far to say that the fate of our United Nations peace organization may turn on this meeting. Certainly the future of UN is deeply concerned.

DewittMarkenzie

This parley in the old Luxembourg palace is concerned with drawing up the terms of the peace treaties with Italy, Hungary, Romania, Bulgaria and Finland. Its importance lies in the fact that the realignment of the Anglo-Russian spheres of influence is heavily involved in these pacts, especially the Italian treaty.

In short, the conference is likely to provide a showdown between Moscow and London in the maneuvering for strategic positions.

Mediterranean Issue

An autstanding issue is the great Mediterranean area, which not only is a vital link in Britain's lifeline to the imperial connections in the Far East but is one of the chief bulwarks of England's influence in Europe, North Africa and the Middle East. England's influence in Europe, North Africa and the Middle East. Mighty Russia has made it known in no uncertain terms that she intends to gain a place in the Mediterranean sun.

So the Soviet Union's challenge to British influence is the paramount problem at this writing. And if you think that isn't hot you can gauge its temperature by recalling that the conference of the Big Five foreign ministers (America, Russia, Britain, France and China) in London last autumn blew up over these same treaties.

Word from the French capital today is that French sources express a desire to achieve conciliation in the matter of the Italian treaty. Some quarters, however express doubt that Britain and the United States will be able to see eye to eye with Russia.

That's a mild viewpoint to take. We know Russia and England can't see eye to eye over this, though we may hope that they will reconcile their differences to a point where an agreement may be made. As for the United States, American officials are inclining to the view that the British empire system is so important to general peace that Uncle Sam can't afford to see it disrupted.

Apparently French officials preparing for the conference are battening down the hatches in anticipation of bad weather. We get the discomforting news from Paris that the conference will be held in secrecy. Guards will be posted at the entrance to the grounds of the Luxembourg palace and newspaper folk won't be permitted to get near. Furthermore it is said that there will be no announcements prior to the end to indicate what progress is being made.

Well, the "good old days" still are with us. That's the traditional way of handling conferences in Europe—keep 'em dark. Naturally the result of the scheme of withholding the news is that there is a heavy crop of rumors, speculation and untruths. Thus secrecy defeats its own purpose, which is to protect a conference and to prevent agitation among the publics of the countries concerned.

COMPROMISE HINTED AT PEACE MEETING

By The Associated Press

PARIS, April 23 — An air of determination to compromise conflicting foreign policies prevailed today as the advance echelon of diplomats gathered in the French capital for the opening Thursday of the four-power foreign ministers' conference.

High-ranking diplomats were agreed that the success of the United Nations and the European peace conference might well depend on the results of the deliberations, to be held in the Luxembourg palace by the ministers of the United States, Britain, Russia and France.

United States diplomats appeared eager to succeed in resolving differences with Russia on the issues in eastern Europe.

French sources expressed a desire to conciliate viewpoints on the Italian peace treaty, which probably will be first on the agenda and to smooth difficulties in the discussions on Austria.

Nevertheless, doubts were expressed in some quarters that the United States and Britain would be able to see eye-to-eye with Russia on many of the issues which will come before the ministers.

French diplomats will not participate in treaties with Hungary, Romania and Bulgaria, and only the British and Russian ministers will be concerned with the treaty with Finland

No newspapermen will be permitted to approach the palace, French authorities said, and the only official news of the proceedings will be one or two-line communiques, stating merely that meetings have been held.

MEEKER F.F.A. HOLDS PARENT-SON DINNER

Sixty Attend Annual Social at School Building.

Approximately 60 persons attended the annual Meeker Future Farmers of America parent and son banquet held Friday night in the school building.

The welcome was given by Wayne Roszman with the response by Ralph Roszman. Principal speaker was Gordon Eichhorn, who was awarded the title of Star Farmer of America in 1945. His talk was on the Future Farmers of America programs, emphasizing father and son partnerships.

Short talks were given by several persons. Carl Neville spoke on Farmers Institute, Allan Levy on F. F. A. camp, and Dale Mawer on F. F. R. gilt chain. A poem "Ode to a Horse" was presented by Lloyd Wallace, and music was furnished by the F. F. A. quartet composed of George Wilson, Jack Dean, Wayne Roszman, and Robert Schreck.

D. T. Mills, superintendent of schools in Marion county, gave a brief talk on the motto of the club, "Honor Thy Father and Thy Mother." George Wilson served as toastmaster.

Certificates, letters, and money were awarded to several members of the club. Letters were awarded to Jack Dean, Wayne Roszman, George Wilson, Henry Wenig and Robert Schreck. George Wilson was presented a certificate for the highest grades, and Robert Schreck and George Wilson were given certificates for the neatest, most complete and accurate farming programs.

First prize in a recently conducted pest hunt contest and to Donald Wood, second prize went to Henry Wenig, and third prize Wayne Roszman. Henry Wenig also was awarded first prize in sales tax collection. Howard Murphy was awarded second prize and third prize went to Howard Murphy.

Guests at the banquet included the faculty, the board of education, Mr. and Mrs. D. T. Mills, Arthur Smith, county agricultural agent, and Rev. and Mrs. G. C. Nutter. The banquet was prepared by Mrs. Blanche Coon, Mrs. Kate Savage, Mrs. Zelda Ford and Miss Marie Wilson and served by the high school girls. Assisting on committees were George Wilson, Carl Neville, Jack Dean, Michael Peiffer, Thomas Lumpkins, Allan McKelvy, Dale Mawer, Henry Wenig, Lloyd Wallace, Kenneth Lumpkins, Dick Williams, Robert Schreck and Wayne Roszman.

OUTSTANDING CONCERTS BY NATIONALLY FAMOUS ARTISTS

To Be Chosen for MARION'S SECOND COMMUNITY CONCERT SEASON

The Purpose: Good music is a necessary factor in the artistic growth and development of the country. Concerts by world famous artists and musical attractions add prestige and distinction to any city. Concerts, however, cannot become an established institution when they are promoted on the theatric basis of random ticket selling. Their successful establishment depends upon the support of a group of people who join in a plan for the purpose of insuring a permanent audience. Your Community Concert Association provides that plan. The public schools are doing outstanding work in developing musical appreciation in the younger generation. The Community Concert Association carries this work forward. The purpose of the Community Concert Plan is to make concerts possible on a basis which eliminates all financial risk on the part of any person, group or organization. It is designed to be practical, economical, and cooperative.

The Plan—

The Association is organized on a membership basis.

Only members of the Association may attend the concerts.

The success of the Community Concert Association is assured by the fact that enough memberships must be secured during the membership campaign week.

Artists are selected by the local committee at the close of the membership drive week.

The fact that "the more members secured means the more concerts possible" makes the Association a cooperative organization—cooperative because it behooves each member to become interested in increasing the membership.
